Gorge Hospital Patients Hit

'Chronics' Out of Luck In Benefit Extension

Extension of hospital insurance benefits to "chronic care patients" will not benefit those suffering actual chronic illnesses, it was made clear in the legislature yesterday.

An immediate result of the statement in the House by Health Minister Eric Martin was the disclosure that the Gorge Road Hospital will be turned over to treatment of the newly-created class of "chronic patients."

This will result in a drastic reduction of aged patients who have until now been cared for there.

Third and final reading was given to a bill extending B.C. Hospital Insurance Service coverage to so-called chronic patients.

STILL HAVE TO PAY

Mr. Martin admitted under questioning from CCF members that only patients who were capable of responding to "intense and rehabilitative" treatment were eligible for the coverage under the $1-a-day scheme.

The true chronic, the person who has virtually no chance of recovering, would still have to pay for his own nursing or otherwise become a ward of society and be placed in a government infirmary.

Mr. Martin said the "chronic coverage" would pay the hospital fees of those patients in chronic hospitals who would recover after long-time convalescence.

BROKEN LIMB

As an example, he said a person with a broken limb would spend the first few days in an acute hospital, such as Royal Jubilee, and would then be taken to the chronic wing.

Acute care costs about $12 a day while the proposed chronic care would only cost between $6 and $7 a day, the minister said.

CCFers charged that the proposed extension was merely an "economy move" and a "scaling down of benefits."

GREATLY REDUCED

Number of aged patients in Gorge Road Hospital will be greatly reduced under the new long-range plan, administrator Mrs. Florence Mutrie said last night.

The 104 beds now in the hospital will be turned over gradually from elderly patients to semi-chronic patients who require a long period of rehabilitation, she said.

This type of patient will be eligible for B.C. Hospital Insurance under new regulations now before the provincial legislature.

PUBLIC SUPPORT

Future of elderly patients now cared for by the hospital will depend on public support of a fund-raising campaign to finance a new 50-bed unit, she said.

George E. Masters, administrator of Royal Jubilee Hospital, said his hospital, like most acute hospitals in B.C., did not accept chronic patients.

He did not think the form of the legislation would affect Royal Jubilee at all.

Rush-Hour Crash Injures Twelve

VANCOUVER (CP)—Twelve persons were taken to hospital here late Tuesday afternoon following a rush-hour collision between a fire department inhalator and a bus.

Most seriously injured in the accident at Georgia and Granville Streets in downtown Vancouver was Callum McKenzie, a member of the inhalator crew, who suffered back and rib injuries. Vancouver General Hospital authorities said his condition was satisfactory.

Two other members of the inhalator crew; Billie R. Gossen, driver of the B.C. Electric bus, and eight passengers also were taken to hospital.

Police said the inhalator was was weaving through heavy traffic moving west on Georgia, its siren turned on. The collision occurred as the driver slowed to 20 miles an hour for a left-hand turn onto Granville.

But driver Gossen told police he did not hear the siren and pulled ahead to cross the intersection, striking the inhalator truck.

'Birdcage' Doomed

Raging Blaze Envelops Old Parliament Buildings

Flames Light Sky

Fire early today destroyed British Columbia's first legislative building, the old wooden "birdcage" which stood behind the present Legislative Buildings on Superior Street.

Shooting up billows of flame that could be seen from almost every corner of the city, fire struck the century - old landmark shortly after midnight and within half an hour was considered a total loss.

The building where the province's first lawmakers sat, in modern times had housed a mineral museum.

SPEWING SPARKS

At press time all available city firemen were battling giant volcanoes of sparks spewing up from the building sometimes with explosive force and flying across Superior Street.

Firemen desperately played their hoses on old frame houses, used as offices, which were in peril of catching ablaze.

Squads of city police were hurried to the James Bay area to try to keep hordes of traffic that rushed to the scene from impeding emergency vehicles.

As firemen battled to keep the blaze from spreading thousands of persons flocked to see the historic building go up in flames.

JAMMED SWITCHBOARDS

Within minutes of the alarm Daily Colonist switchboards were jammed as residents from many parts of the city phoned in to shout:

"The parliament buildings are on fire!"

Immediately after Victoria fire alarm headquarters announced they were sending all available equipment.

"It's a big one," they said.

Officials said there had been a civil defence meeting in the historic assembly hall earlier in the evening.

FIRST ALARM

First alarm was turned in by Cyril Mills, caretaker of one of the Legislative buildings at 12.15.

A minute later the blaze was visible from the roof of the Victoria Press Building.

At press time the blaze had spread to a heap of rubbish but although other buildings were under constant threat, none had caught fire.

EYEWITNESS

An eyewitness to the start of the fire was R. Coles, who was working in the government's No. 3 Annex across the street.

"The building seemed to explode in a solid pillar of flame," Mr. Coles said.

Sparks were flying everywhere, harassing nearby buildings. The entire sky lit up, and the flames could be seen for miles.

HYSTERICAL MAN

Police said fireman had serious trouble restraining a hysterical man who twice climbed to the roof of the fiercely blazing building.

Eyewitnesses said the man raced up the ladder and remained on the roof until his coat burst into flames. He then raced to the ladder where he was half-pulled and half fell to the ground with the aid of a fireman.

Minutes later he was back up again, but by this time police reinforcements had arrived. It took four burly men in blue to bodily carry the man off, with a temporary charge of obstructing police and firemen pending.

Starts the Day Right

New Charge For Unionist

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A new indictment was served Tuesday on Clyde C. Crosby, chief of the Teamsters' Union in Oregon.

The indictment, voted secretly by the grand jury Monday, charges him with conspiracy to commit extortion. He was released on $1,000 bail.

Another Man Injured

Fall Kills Worker After Rope Breaks

One man was killed and another injured in two separate on-the-job falls yesterday in Victoria.

Richard Aspinall, 46, of 2697 Peatt Road, Langford, suffered fatal injuries just before noon while at work with Commonwealth Construction Co. Ltd. on an addition to the Hudson's Bay Co. store.

He was taken in police ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he died about three hours later.

Mr. Aspinall was working on the first floor, below ground level, using a vibrator screen. When a rope broke, he fell backward through a hole in the floor to the basement floor about 20 feet below.

A bachelor, Mr. Aspinall had lived with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Aspinall.

Admitted for treatment to St. Joseph's Hospital later in the afternoon was Edward Ruell, 57, of 1612 Quadra.

Mr. Ruell suffered cuts to the top and back of his heady and concussion, when he fell about five feet from a platform to a cement floor at the B. Wilson Co. Ltd. ice plant, 536 Herald.

He was also taken to hospital in police ambulance.

Strike Takes Better Turn

LONDON (Reuters)—Bids to settle Britain's 11-day-long shipyard strike took a decisive turn Tuesday when the unions and employers agreed to co-operate with a government-appointed court of inquiry.

This agreement came little more than 12 hours after talks between both sides broke down completely Monday night on a new wage offer.

Strange

Rope Snags Neck

TORONTO (CP)—Arthur McGillis, 38, of Toronto was almost hanged in what police said was one of the strangest traffic accidents accidents they have investigated.

McGillis said he was standing on the curb Monday waiting to cross downtown Fleet Street when a rope flicked around his neck and yanked him into the road.

For 20 seconds the rope, dangling from the back of a transport truck, pulled him along the street face down on the road. Then it jerked him to his feet, unwrapped itself and left him standing dazed and in pain.

He was treated for first-degree rope burns to his face and neck and head cuts. The truck disappeared.

McGillis said the rope caught him after it leaped into the air when the truck hit a bump.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

THOMAS BEAUMONT came out to Canada ahead of his wife and worked and borrowed to pay her fare from England. When she came out and saw the little house he had built for her, in the Mount Tolmie area, with no partitions to divide the single room, and dandelions growing up between the chinks in the shiplap—she sat down and cried.

Tom Beaumont was a $15-a-week clerk in Spencer's department store by day, a house-builder in spare time. He had worked hard to get a house ready for Mrs. Beaumont and their two little sons. Two other baby sons had died in England.

Now Tom Beaumont was so tired that he didn't bother hanging the door on the cabin. He left it leaning against the wall.

In the night the Beaumonts heard a bellow from somewhere close. They kindled a lamp, and looked up to see the face of a cow over the bed. The cow had wandered in the open door from Fred Ellis' dairy nearby.

Dandelions growing through the floor, cows breaking into the bedroom—it was all too much for Mrs. Beaumont. She broke down and cried for the second time. "I want to go back to England," she wailed.

* * *

That was in 1913. On April 4, the Beaumonts will mark their 50th wedding anniversary. It will be their 44th year in Canada. For all the 44 years they have lived in the same house, with alterations and rooms tacked on. Now it's a snug retreat—no dandelions in the floor—and Mr. Beaumont is retired after a career as a store clerk, sailor, feed store hand and dockyard worker. The house is lined with souvenir trinkets and pictures of the Beaumonts' two surviving sons and their daughter, at various stages from babyhood upward.

* * *

When Tom Beaumont came to the Mount Tolmie area, there was no Shelbourne Street. Mr. and Mrs. George Brand let him live in a cabin on their grounds, while he built the little house at what is now 3678 Third Street.

Water came from a well. Navy dependents' allowances were meagre, and when Mr. Beaumont was in uniform in 1914-18, that same Fred Ellis (whose cow wandered into the bedroom) traded milk for water from the Beaumonts' well. It was the only decent water supply for some distance.

The dairy is closed now. Houses have arisen all around. A big store and a garage will soon blot out the green turf where the Beaumonts walked as a young married couple, 44 years ago.

New York Papers Now Cost More

NEW YORK (BUP) — The New York Post yesterday raised its price from five to 10 cents.

The city's two other afternoon newspapers announced similar price increases last week.

Two morning tabloids, Daily News and Daily Mirror, went to five cents within the city limits Monday, a one-cent increase in price.

$300,000,000 Project Set

VANCOUVER (CP) — A New York land development company plans a multi-million dollar conversion of 910 acres of land in greater Vancouver to large industrial and commercial estates.

Estimates of the eventual value of the proposed project run as high as $300,000,000.

Webb and Knapp (Canada) Ltd., a Canadian subsidiary of the William Zeckendorf organization of New York, has purchased two-thirds interest in 910 acres in suburban Burnaby and Sea Island, base of Vancouver's international airport.

William Zeckendorf Jr., whose father heads the U.S. company, is here to launch the project.

The Lake City area in Burnaby, he said, will attract light manufacturing and processing plants, and distributing firms. The Sea Island development is "ideally suited" for heavy industry and will feature a communal dock and pier area.

The project should take five to 10 years to complete "and it should be self-financing in a shorter period."

Only seven of the more than 100 islands making up Hawaii are inhabited.

Don't Smother Tomato Seed

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Let's see now—where were we in this business of starting the seeds of the Fargo Yellow Pear tomato indoors?

We have assembled a number of paper cups—the bigger the better—in which to grow our baby tomato plants. The sides of each cup were slit down with a razor blade, then patched up again with a bit of Scotch tape, to facilitate getting the plants out of the cups without damage to the roots when planting-out time rolls around.

A few holes were punched in the bottom of the cup to drain off excess moisture, and these were covered with a wad of paper handkerchief or toilet paper to keep the soil from filtering through and clogging the drainage holes. We're ready now to fill the cups.

If you are only going to raise a few plants, your best bet is to buy a bag or two of ready-mixed potting soil—the kind sold in plastic bags. This is good stuff—rich, yet free-draining and of a lovely velvety texture, and while you can't see it, there is a good quantity of dried and shredded cow manure in the mixture.

On a larger scale, this would be too expensive, and your best bet would be to use the best grade of garden soil you can get your hands on. Sift it through a sieve to remove lumps, stones and twigs, and mix it with peat moss and coarse sand at the rate of two parts soil, one part moss and one part sand. Make sure the sand is coarse—fine sand is useless for this purpose.

KEEP IT LEVEL

Fill the paper cups with this prepared soil mixture and firm and level it with the fingers until the surface is half an inch below the rim of the cup. Then water, using boiling water, right out of the kettle, pouring it very slowly indeed, until it starts coming out the holes in the bottom. The idea back of the boiling water is to kill off any pests or disease spores which might be lurking in the soil to attack your seedling plants later.

When this has drained away and the soil has partially cooled, you can go ahead and sow your seeds, one to each cup, just laying it on the surface of the soil.

Covering the seed is a ticklish business, and it is easy to cover too deeply, thereby suffocating the emerging seedling. I have had best results by not covering at all—merely pushing the seed just barely under the surface of the wet soil with the point of a pencil and letting it go at that.

Cover the top of each cup with a sheet of plastic film and hold it in place with an elastic band. Cellophane will do in a pinch; Saran wrap is better, but the best of the lot is a piece of pliofilm cut from one of those plastic bags in which we buy our apples and cookies.

Pliofilm has the unique property of permitting air to pass through it, but not water vapor, and so is ideally suited for this job. Its purpose is to convert each paper cup into a miniature greenhouse and to maintain the proper humid condition for the quick germination of the seed.

STORE IN WARM PLACE

It is a good idea, although not strictly necessary, to slip each of the prepared paper cups inside another one, both for added strength, and to have somewhere for the water to drain into. With this done, the cups, each one containing its precious seed, can be stored in a warm place until the seedlings poke their noses above the surface of the soil.

'St. Laurent Leader, But in Name Only'

SASKATOON (CP)—Davie Fulton, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Kamloops, says Louis St. Laurent is head of the federal government in name only.

Mr. Fulton said in the keynote address Monday at the Saskatchewan Progressive Conservative party convention that C. D. Howe dictates the policy of the federal cabinet.

Restoration of the two-party system in Canada for effective democracy will be the main issue in the forthcoming federal election campaign, Mr. Fulton said.

U.S. Stores Atoms In Siegfried Line

BONN (NANA) — The U.S. army is using sections of Hitler's old Siegfried Line for the storage of live atomic ammunition.

Army sources refused to pinpoint the nuclear depots, for obvious security reasons. They readily admit it would be impossible to rush the atomic warheads from the United States to any distant point if the "balloon goes up."

"Nuclear ammunition is beginning to take on the category of conventional ammunition. We have to have it at hand, ready for instant use."

They disclosed that the United States now has such a plentiful supply of atomic warheads for its tactical infantry weapons that "a battalion of the enemy can be considered as a remunerative nuclear target."

The Siegfried Line, built by Hitler immediately after he defied the Allies by militarizing the Rhineland in 1935, snakes along Germany's western frontier from Belgium across France eastward to the Swiss border. It is a chain of underground concrete-and-steel fortresses.

The Rhineland-Palatinate, the area in which the nuclear warheads are reported stored, is the most heavily fortified single area in Europe.

It is guarded by half a dozen jet air bases, Nike anti-aircraft missile batteries, and several divisions of infantry supported by "Atomic Annie" cannon, the "Honest John" rocket, and Corporal and Matador guided missiles.

WASHINGTON (UP)—AFL-CIO president George Meany Tuesday called a special meeting of the union's executive council for Friday, presumably to discuss the possible ouster of teamsters' boss, Dave Beck.

Beck invoked the fifth amendment and refused to turn over financial records of his dealings withe the teamster at his appearance Tuesday before the Senate rackets committee. He refused to say whether he dipped into union funds to the tune of $322,448.

An AFL-CIO spokesman would not discuss the purpose of the extraordinary council meeting, except to say, "It's in connection with the Beck affair." He termed Meaney's action "an unusual procedure."

Beck, chief of the biggest U.S. union, is a member of the 29-member executive council.

His action confronts the AFL-CIO with the obligation to deal with Beck in line with its recently-adopted code of ethics. The code holds that a union official who invokes the fifth amendment's protection against self-incrimination is unfit to hold office and should be ousted.

Beck cast the only dissenting vote last February when the council called upon its 140 affiliated unions to oust any officials who invoke the fifth amendment to avoid answering "relevant" questions in a legitimate inquiry into union corruption.

Russia Spurns Atomic Offer

MOSCOW—Russia gave the brushoff Tuesday to the Bermuda plan to give advance notice on atomic test explosions and to invite international observation of the experiments.

But Leonid F. Ilyichev, foreign ministry press chief, stopped short of outright rejection of the proposal made by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan at their Bermuda meeting. He said Russia favored a "radical solution" — outright prohibition of nuclear tests—rather than "round-about methods."

The position thus appeared to be the usual East-West standoff—with Russia wanting a simple agreement to stop testing bombs, the West contending a paper agreement would be useless in the absence of a broader disarmament agreement or means to enforce it.

Ilyichev rejected, in effect, a Japanese note asking that Russia's atomic test explosions be suspended. Without a big power agreement to end tests, he said, the Soviet Union would have to continue perfecting its weapons, including nuclear weapons, in the interest of its own security.

Russia has warned Norway, a member of NATO, of "immense [illegible] to be used for western defence bases, it was announced yesterday.

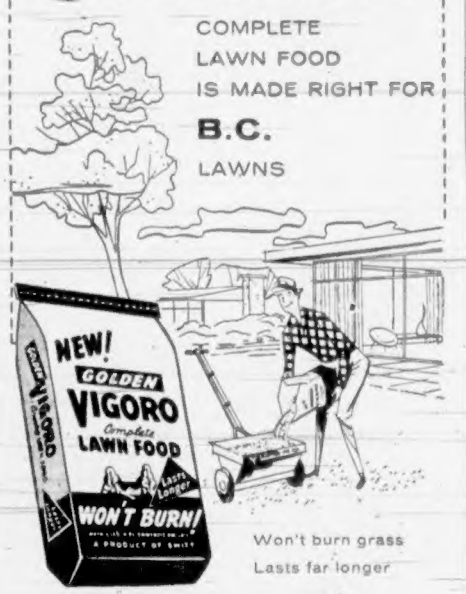

Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin said in a letter to Norwegian Premier Einar Gerhardsen that if war came it would "mean a catastrophe even to states with a greater territory than Norway.

How To Read Your Home Safety-Rating
With more than 3 out of 5 of Canada's homes under-wired for today's electrical living, it's likely many of these safety checks apply in your home.
If you have answered "Yes" to any of the first six questions, you should call a qualified electrical contractor at once. Faulty wiring is all too often a source of family tragedy.
If you have answered "Yes" to any of the last four, you are suffering from an acute, possibly dangerous, lack of HOUSEPOWER. Your electrical utility consumer service representative will tell you how to remedy this lack of electrical capacity. It will cost less than you think.
Electricity is like any good servant—badly treated it can cause serious trouble, overworked it will do a poor job. Properly and efficiently used it increases your enjoyment, enables you to Live Better—Electrically.

HERE'S WHAT TO DO!
- Call an electrical contractor at once. Have him do an ELECTRICAL SURVEY on your home, building or plant wiring for safety, efficiency and HOUSEPOWER rating. Most contractors do this work at no obligation to you.
- Ask your contractor about Home Improvement Loans . . . how they finance wiring improvements at low interest.
- Contact your Electric Utility for advice.
- Contact your Nearest Electric Service League for free literature or advice; write to the Institute of Electrical Living, 126 Davenport Road, Toronto, Ontario, for informative literature on full HOUSEPOWER for old or new homes.

Centennial Auditorium

SUPPORT is coming from more and more directions for the idea of building a civic auditorium as Victoria's centennial project. This is a suggestion which would fill the bill perfectly and for which the approval of the surrounding municipalities could be taken virtually for granted, since an auditorium would be for the benefit of the entire region, besides being an appropriate monument to a century of cultural as well as physical progress.

This, of course, is not a project that could be undertaken out of the provincial grants for centennial purposes and the matching municipal shares, which would not do much more than prepare the site. Recalling, however, Premier Bennett's publicly expressed wish more than a year ago to make this the finest capital in the land, a capital city auditorium would be an eminently suitable centennial plan for the province, with the municipalities pooling their funds as a gesture of participation.

It would be quite out of the question for Victoria, with or without the adjoining municipalities, to finance such a building now or in the foreseeable future. Premier Bennett's offer in 1955 to build an auditorium for the provincial capital has not been publicly withdrawn and presumably stands. The mayor and council of that time dillied and dallied over it in a timid and mystifying manner for so long that the premier naturally enough dropped the subject. Now would appear to be the right time to revive it. Mr. Bennett gave Victoria the opening as clearly as it was possible for him to do without appearing to force the issue, and nothing can ever come of it unless the civic authorities make the next move.

When the House has prorogued and Premier Bennett has had an opportunity to rest after the session it would seem not only opportune but urgently desirable for the mayor to request an interview at which the two could discuss the subject privately and freely. Time for any worthwhile centennial project is running out, especially one of the magnitude of an auditorium, which would entail much preliminary negotiation and architectural planning before construction could even begin. Whatever project may be decided upon should be ready for official dedication in centennial year, the beginning of which is a mere nine months away.

Banker Speaks Out

IT has been some time in Canada since a leading representative of the chartered banks has spoken out so clearly in questioning the wisdom and the direction of a proposal advocated by the central bank for adoption by the federal government as policy. Although the subject is highly technical, Mr. Gordon R. Ball, president of the Bank of Montreal, came out flatfooted this week against what he termed "the drastic, rigid procedure now proposed by the governor of the Bank of Canada." He appealed to Finance Minister Harris to say that no fundamental changes in the Canadian banking structure will be contemplated without the fullest possible investigation of what might be involved.

Mr. Harris promptly said so, without further comment on the publicly advocated proposal of Mr. James E. Coyne, governor of the Bank of Canada, for channelling savings deposits. From here, of course, the issue will go back into the committee rooms; replete with full governmental assurances that at no time did Ottawa contemplate ordering the chartered banks about in the administration of their assets. Mr. Ball's challenge, and Mr. Harris' climb-down, however, are today being studied from one end of Canada to the other.

Stripped of its technicalities, what Mr. Ball indicated was that the central bank theory if carried into effect across the nation, would remove part of the fundamental right of the chartered banks in the discretionary application of their assets; would not assist in the long run as any form of inflationary curb; and could promote channels through which long-term capital borrowings would be favored at the expense of ordinary, day-to-day necessary commercial credit.

What Mr. Ball did not say, but we will, is that this is not the first time that the chartered banks have been given some reason to examine central bank policies in very close relationship with the federal treasury. On the main issue, indirect or covert interference with banking for administrative ends outside of the halls of parliament, business in Canada long since has said that it wants none. Regimented banks, so often advocated by money theorists, would be the last thing that the public of Canada would tolerate so long as it values its liberties. Mr. Harris' swift denial has disclaimed any such intention, but the public will watch now to see what is done.

A Breach of Manners

THE POLITICAL technique employed in the federal government's promise to help B.C. develop hydro-electric power on the Columbia is as interesting as the proposal itself. It was channelled through the federal fisheries minister, Mr. James Sinclair, so that he might gain the kudos of making the announcement. With a federal election coming up this summer the implication is obvious; the idea is to suggest that as a cabinet minister Mr. Sinclair is able to provide largesse for the province and thus persuade voters to return him to office. That may be customary as politics go but the procedure offers a grave discourtesy to Premier Bennett.

No British Columbia premier, no matter who he is or of what party, should learn of such a proposal through the newspapers. If there is to be any joint federal-provincial action on the Columbia development the principals concerned will be Mr. St. Laurent and Mr. Bennett. Ordinary decent courtesy therefore demanded that the latter should be advised directly of federal intentions and not informed left-handedly through a subordinate. Opposition members in the legislature should be equally concerned that B.C.'s dignity in this respect should not be lowered to make political capital for one Liberal cabinet minister.

The offence actually was compounded beforehand. A few days ago Mr. Sinclair crowed publicly that he had an important announcement to make shortly, that Mr. Bennett wouldn't like him making it, but that it would be made by him nevertheless. That was typical of a juvenile attitude which should have no place in the make-up of a responsible minister of the crown. This is not the first instance of Mr. Sinclair's egoism and political opportunism as displayed in such manner, but it is surprising that Prime Minister St. Laurent should lend himself to the breach of official manners involved. The B.C. government differs from his own in its party allegiance but that is no reason why it should not be treated with the courtesy normal between autonomous bodies when they have a common project to discuss or negotiate.

Interpreting the News.

France Remains Unconvinced

By BERNARD KAPLAN
North American Newspaper Alliance

PARIS—Israel and France have come to a "full understanding" on the degree of help the French will render the latter in what is regarded here as the increasingly likely event open warfare again breaks out in the Near East.

Authoritative sources here have revealed that the French are ready to give everything short of fighting forces, which the Israelis do not want, anyway. France has offered to "match" whatever military assistance the Communist bloc gives to Egypt.

During recent talks here, Premier Guy Mollet is understood to have assured Mrs. Golda Meir, the Israeli foreign minister, that no amount of pressure from either the United States or the United Nations would deter France from extending such aid if full-scale war again is touched off.

In fact, Mollet added, French public opinion is so wholeheartedly behind Israel that he could not expect to stay in office 24 hours if he failed to come to the Israelis' assistance without hesitation. The Mollet-Meir talks put the seal on what has evolved within the past eight months as an informal, but nonetheless binding alliance between the two nations, based on mutual need.

Their agreement firmly ruled out the possibility of French troops or airmen being sent to Israel as liable to provide an excuse for open intervention by Russia, a step which might easily lead to world war.

The Israelis, according to reliable informants here, are more confident than ever of their ability to deal effectively with Egypt and, if necessary, the other Arab states without the help of foreign troops. Both the French and Israelis agree that the dispatch of small groups of French airmen and army technicians to Tel Aviv prior to the Israel army's surprise attack last autumn — their presence is no longer seriously denied by anyone—was an unfortunate and unnecessary mistake.

* * *

There is no doubt that Mollet feels deeply and personally responsible for persuading Premier Ben-Gurion to withdraw from the Gulf of Aqaba and the Gaza strip. The Israeli government agreed to do so only after Mollet's Washington conference with President Eisenhower. It was, officials here are saying, as much Mollet's reassurance as Eisenhower's original assurances that influenced Ben-Gurion to back down.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

I DARESAY many of you are following the trial of Dr. Adams at the Old Bailey these days. I am too, unless I forget. In fact sometimes I peruse the daily account in The Times of London, which goes into minute court detail. This admirable journal caters to a special clientele and ignores a lot of news which other papers publish, but when it comes to a murder mystery or a celebrated court action it has no inhibitions.

Capital crime is of absorbing interest to almost everyone, as movies and detective stories have long attested, especially when there is a who-dun-it angle. And that is precisely the suspensive factor in the Dr. Adams case.

Although as a boy I rubbed shoulders with the law in the sacred chambers of a Writer to the Signet I cannot claim too familiarity with its nuances. Actually I kept the stamp book, and in my very best handwriting copied out legal documents and then sewed them up in red tape. I must therefore be careful. I don't know how far this sub judice business extends; maybe it even flies across the Atlantic. Let me just say I have begun to think of witnesses.

* * *

To make sure, let me switch to a TV murder trial I saw the other night. The actual event happened long, long ago and concerned a lady who was accused of chopping her stepmother's head with an axe and then doing ditto to her father's. The lady in question was acquitted, primarily because of the skill of her defence counsel, although the TV commentator said that ever afterwards the community concerned was convinced of her guilt. She lived on through a lonely boycott.

The point I am slowly coming to is the ordeal of the witnesses. They had a rough time. Witnesses often do, it seems to me. They are treated so inconsiderately sometimes you'd think they were the persons being tried. In this TV film one of them complained, and with ample reason, that the defence counsel had bamboozled her with so many questions she scarcely knew what she was saying.

If you read famous trials of history you cannot help appreciating the poor witness' plight. When lawyers like Marshall Hall or Clarence Darrow rose to their feet the odds were that a witness, having sworn to tell the truth and bent only on so doing, would leave the witness box shaking like a jelly. And perhaps with his or her reputation shredded to bits.

As a layman this has always seemed to me to be unfair. If he is defending a client or prosecuting an accused a counsel must have considerable license and, presumably, the judge sees that he doesn't overstep the bounds. Within those bounds, however, he can certainly make a witness squirm.

* * *

If a defence lawyer, his role is to discredit the evidence of a prosecution witness and vice versa if he is the prosecuting counsel. Often enough this isn't hard to do because of his legal knowledge and advantageous position. He can demand a yes-or-no answer to a question when perhaps it can't really be answered that way. He can employ the arts of sarcasm or of badgering while the witness cannot answer back in the same vein. He can indulge in all manner of verbal tricks and traps to confuse and confound the witness, make him contradict himself or be so befuddled that his word is worth nothing. There never seems to be any concern for the spectacle the latter might be making of himself or the damage done to his character though no fault of his own. This sort of inquisition may be highly ethical but it causes me to wonder.

I confess I have wondered about something else. I presume that in a capital crime trial a defence lawyer conceivably might be aware that his client is guilty. It is a personal triumph of course if he gets him off through the exercise of legal ingenuity and skill. The Crown must prove its case; this is a wise and most important credo. But if sheer forensic magic forestalls the Crown and in such an instance the accused is acquitted, is justice thereby well served?

International Commentary

Russia Invited Rejection

By W. N. EWER, from London

BRITAIN, the United States and France have all declined the Soviet proposal that the Four Powers should issue a joint declaration laying down identical principles of policy in the Middle East.

That was to be expected. Indeed, the Soviet government seems not only to have expected it but to have taken steps to ensure it. The day after the delivery of the note containing the proposals the Soviet deputy foreign minister tabled in the United Nations Assembly a document accusing the United States of "military provocations in the Middle East," of aiming at "economic and political enslavement of the peoples of that region" and of preparing to "unleash an atomic war." Such language at such a moment seemed clearly designed to put the idea of trying to agree on a joint declaration outside all range of possibility.

The British reply, sent to Moscow on March 11, suggests that this and similar, if less violent, attacks on the United Kingdom "must inevitably create doubt whether the Soviet proposals are intended as a serious contribution towards the fulfilment of their professed aims." That is decidedly an understatement.

* * *

This is of course not the sole reason for the refusal of the Soviet proposals.

As the British reply points out, the "Shepilov Plan" (Mr. Shepilov's last act as the Soviet foreign minister) is based on the assumption that the great powers have the right to take by themselves decisions which would affect and determine the policies in highly important matters of the Middle East countries. The proposed Four Power declaration would "tend to impose on those countries restrictions on their sovereignty and foreign policy." Yet it would be a declaration "about which the Middle East states concerned would not have been consulted and in which they are not being invited to participate."

It is in fact another example of the Soviet government's clinging to the 19th century imperialist conception of Middle East affairs. It is the function of the great powers to lay down rules and take decisions; of the smaller nations to accept and obey. Mr. Shepilov talks the language of Prince Gorchakov.

* * *

It may be retorted that the same is true of the "Eisenhower Doctrine." But that is not so. The Eisenhower Declaration is a declaration that the United States is prepared in certain circumstances to render assistance to any Middle East country which may ask for it. It does not require of them or involve them in any undertakings or in any change of their own policies.

It is an offer which they are perfectly free to accept, to reject or to ignore.

The Shepilov Plan calls for the "renunciation" of any alliances ("military blocs" in Soviet terminology) between the Middle East states and the great powers. That, as the Russian commentators make very clear, means the ending of the Bagdad Pact and of the Turkish membership of NATO.

* * *

Now, opinions about the Bagdad Pact differ, but it is beyond question that its Middle East members value it highly, that it was initially founded by two of them and that they would be strongly opposed to its dissolution. Yet, without consultation with them, Britain is invited to come to an agreement with Russia whereby she would at any rate withdraw from it in breach of her pledges. It is a proposal which would not seriously be considered.

Nor could Britain, France and the United States even consider suggesting to Turkey that, as a result of an agreement between them and the Soviet Union, she must withdraw from NATO.

All this, it goes without saying, is as obvious in Moscow as it is in London. The conclusion is quite inescapable. The Shepilov proposals were put in the form which made their rejection certain. The world could then be told that the Western powers had refused to agree to keep peace in the Middle East and not to interfere in the internal affairs of the area—the first two (and completely uncontroversial) points in the suggested "declaration."

* * *

But just as according to the saying "murder will out," so thoughts will out, even in diplomatic documents. The Russian thoughts and hopes reveal themselves in these proposals.

Suppose that the "Shepilov Plan" were put into effect. What would be the situation in the Middle East? There would be no defensive alliances linking the Middle East countries to any great power. There would be no forces but their own anywhere near the area. Their own armaments would be strictly limited. There would be no "Eisenhower Doctrine." The Middle East would be isolated. Just north of the borders of Turkey, Iraq and Iran, and within striking distance of the whole area and its oil resources, would be the whole formidable military power of Russia.

If I were a citizen of any Middle East country I should have had a feeling of relief when I read that the three Western powers were not prepared even to discuss such a proposition.

The Ape and the Artists

(From The Times, London)

IN Baltimore a six-year-old chimpanzee is holding an exhibition of her own paintings. Though her name, Betsy, is not yet one to conjure with in the world of art, she has already achieved some reputation. Sales of her earlier works include "Cabbage Worms," which fetched $40, and "Inferno" and "Otter in Avalanche," which went for $25 each. These titles suggest a penchant for the macabre, but such symptoms are fairly normal in an artist of the avant-garde, and to the avant-garde Betsy can hardly help belonging, since she is the first chimpanzee—indeed the first ape of any kind—to achieve recognition in her medium.

Compared with other manual workers, like dockers and miners, the artistic profession is not well organized to protect its own interests. These are clearly threatened. Patrons are scarce nowadays. If a connoisseur spends $40 on a painting by a monkey, he has $40 less to spend on a painting by a man.

Although we do not know what size Betsy's canvases are it is highly improbable—for she uses all her 20 fingers when slapping the gamboge on—that they are anything like miniatures; the wall-space they occupy is a dead loss so far as her human rivals are concerned. Ordinary artists have every reason to be worried and alarmed by the arrival of a competitor who is not only non-union, but enjoys the grossly unfair advantages of being exempt from taxes and possessing twice the usual number of hands.

The question is, what sanctions can the artists apply against the apes? These creatures are imitative and their owners emulous; the avant-garde is bound to expand. How can an outburst of simian genius be prevented from upsetting that ramshackle vehicle, the economic applicant of art?

In this country roughly analogous cases in the industrial field are often dealt with by sending the offender to Coventry. But on artists, one suspects, this measure would not act as a deterrent. They long to be left alone; and if they are also apes, they will not even notice, let alone resent, the lack of polite conversation.

The situation is not yet desperate; it has indeed its bright side for Sir Alfred Munnings, in whose after-dinner oratory Betsy seems destined to play a useful part. But, on the long-term view, it is a bleak outlook for the artists. They have enough to do keeping the wolf from their own door without having to worry about excluding mandrills from the Leicester Galleries.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

VISITING some friends recently, I was sitting listening to the afternoon symphony while one of the women of the house was quietly reading a paperback novel, with intense concentration.

Shortly before the Brahms symphony ended, she closed the book with a snap and tossed it aside. She had finished it.

She sat dreaming with the music, and when it concluded, I asked her casually:

"What were you reading?"

She looked a little puzzled, glanced over at the table where the paperback lay, puckered her brow, stared intently into space for a moment, and then looked with a laugh at me.

"Do you know," she exclaimed, "I don't know!"

"What nonsense!"

"No, it's a fact," she declared. "I couldn't tell you for the life of me what it was about . . ."

And I realized she could not.

* * *

There are countless readers of light literature, as we may call paperbacks, who are in the same predicament. It is a weird age we live in. They read a paperback as they might go for a walk from which they come home unable to report a single thing they might have seen on their walk. Our minds are elsewhere, even when we read.

"Well, sir," said a friend I met down town, "I got a great kick out of your Packsack yesterday. Or was it the day before?"

"What was it about?" I inquired.

"Well, uh . . ." and he couldn't remember. But it gave him a great kick.

"You should remember what it was about," he accused, hotly. "Day before yesterday? You know?"

I was sorry I couldn't remember either.

But we both got a great kick out of it, whatever it was.

Louder Horns

(From The Milwaukee Journal)

THE scientific word from Detroit, supported by decibel counts, is that auto horns are getting louder.

The defence of the auto makers is that it's a safety measure. With extra horsepower under the hoods, motorcars overtake pedestrians and other vehicles quicker. So the blast of the horn has to be louder to be heard at a greater distance.

But the assurance of the manufacturers is that while the horns will be more "penetrating" their sound will be more "pleasing."

That's indeed gratifying. If we're going to be blasted out of our seats (when driving) or scared out of our boots (when walking), it's good to know that it will be done in sweet harmony.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

Ghana has been a nation for some weeks now, yet strangely enough none of the song-writers has produced a sentimental ballad about it, such as "I'm Gonna Go Back to Ghana."

Letters to the Editor

'Less Diatribe'

I have not space here to discuss private school taxation policy, but I suggest that columnist Mortimore's Saturday column was name-calling, not argument. What did he say?

He made one quote: "We feel that how a person educates his children is entirely up to him, providing it meets the standards of the province, but if he chooses other than public schools he must assume the financial responsibility." (John Squire, CCF).

Now this is a moderate enough statement, whether one agrees or disagrees with it. It is the only one quoted. Yet Mortimore describes the CCF position as "howl of pain," "screaming," "based on envy," "envious malice," etc. Your readers can judge for themselves whether the above quotation justifies such description.

Surely we can disagree on policies without descending to such levels of name-calling as he has. In short, more ideas, less diatribe, higher journalistic standards would be welcomed by many readers.

P. H. THOMAS.

Title by Conquest

When Mr. Israel contends that the Arabs in Israel enjoy the same standard of living and freedom as any other citizen and that Dorothy Thompson doesn't know what she is talking about, he completely ignores the plight of some 900,000 Arabs forced to abandon their homes and lands and seek what shelter they might in camps and caves in conditions of utmost poverty.

One distressing feature of this is that neither the UN nor the great powers concerned (whose responsibility it is) have compelled Israel to obey the recognized principle of international law instituted after the First World War, that title by conquest should not be valid, which principle has been enforced in Korea and elsewhere, but not in Palestine.

In 1950 the UN Conciliation Commission for Palestine, set up to evaluate Arab properties in Israel, passed a resolution in which was embodied: "That compensation be paid in respect of damages and losses relating to property which is recoverable in accordance with principles of international law, equity and justice from the governments or authorities concerned." But nothing whatever has been done about it, except a ridiculous dole of about $2 per head per month.

Other resolutions have been passed by the UN to restore a reasonable measure of justice to the Arabs, but to no avail. Why?

C. M. CADWALLADER.

Saving to Taxpayers

The Provincial Legislature has, by introducing a bill to exempt private schools from property taxes, acted wisely. It seems incredible that anyone could reasonably take exception to it, except to urge the measure of assistance could be more.

The minister of education, and others, have stated that B.C. has the best system of education in its public schools. It is almost certainly true that B.C. has the most expensive system, but it is absurd for us to be told it is the best. By simple comparison, it is obvious that private schools also achieve similar academic standards and this is integrated with discipline and character training which are so important yet almost non-existent in the government-run schools today.

The more discriminating parents then, desiring the best available education for their children, must send them to a private school and are penalized for this enterprise by heavy taxation to support state schools in addition to the private school fees. Again by comparison, the cost per pupil at a public school is far in excess of per-pupil fees at any local private school. The public schools therefore cost more for less real education. For this reason alone it is common sense to encourage private schools through such measures as the bill before the legislature.

Apparently no one has imagined the chaos that would result if, as some say, all children should be forced to attend the public schools. The nearly 2,000 students in private schools in Victoria would need 70 additional classrooms, which as we know from the latest referendum cost $4,000,000 plus a tremendous increase in operating expenses to raise the mill rate substantially again. This financial fact should remove criticism of assistance to private schools.

It is not suggested that private schools be heavily subsidized but they should rightly receive a return of some of the money they are directly saving all taxpayers.

Rather Unwise

I noticed a recent suggestion that in order to cut cost it would be possible to build only ordinary classrooms in future in the Greater Victoria area. This seems rather unwise because it is not possible to educate children satisfactorily just by using books and pencils in an ordinary classroom.

Your readers may be interested in the contents of a letter I have just received from the headmaster of a new school which is being built at Nuneaton, Warwicks., England, where I was formerly education officer. This school has a site of 30 acres and will accommodate 720 junior high pupils in classes not exceeding 40 pupils each. It will have 18 ordinary classrooms and in addition there will be assembly hall, dining hall and kitchen, gynasium and showers, two science labs, two art rooms, 2 domestic science rooms, needlework room and library. All the schools in this town have school gardens so no doubt part of the site will be used for this purpose.

Polio Shots

Vaccine Supplies Run Out

VANCOUVER (CP)—Leading drug companies here said Tuesday that Vancouver and most of British Columbia, has run out of all commercial supplies of Salk anti-polio vaccine.

Company sales managers said the shortage is general in Canada, and that jobbers are unable to get any supplies for drug retail outlets.

Cause of the shortage given is a halt in export of vaccine by producers in the United States, due to the sudden heavy demand of persons there to be immunized before the polio season.

First relief from the shortage will come from the Canadian supplier, Connaught Research Laboratories, in Toronto, later this week. However, only 300 shots are expected for B.C.

Your Set's Fault, Not Ours CHEK Tells Local Viewers

Cut Out Interference Ottawa Orders Station

By BRUCE LOWTHER

Victoria's television interference problem is due to the "lack of selectivity" of TV sets, CHEK-TV president David Armstrong has told the Saanich Voters' association.

The association, following its annual meeting Monday, released yesterday copies of letters from Mr. Armstrong, Transport Minister George Marler, CBC chairman A. D. Dunton, and Victoria Liberal MP Frank Fairey on the interference issue.

It was also learned that:

1. Ottawa feels the interference must be solved before it can consider a move of the CHEK-TV transmitter.

2. Ottawa recently asked CHEK-TV to reduce interference, and Mr. Armstrong said no official tests have been taken.

3. A petition circulated by the voters' association asking the CBC to solve the problem was signed by 16,083 persons.

"ACCEPTABLE"

Mr. Dunton wrote in February to say that the original CHEK-TV application was "acceptable technically." He added that the CBC could not consider the petition until a new application (for another site) is made.

A few days later, Mr. Marler scotched hopes for an early move of the transmitter with a statement that the move would be "contrary to the government's television coverage policy."

Mr. Marler added that a move to Salt Spring Island would give that area an interference problem. He said Mr. Armstrong "has been requested" to measure the extent of interference at CHEK-TV and "to take action" to reduce it.

(There are an estimated 30,000 sets in Greater Victoria and "perhaps a couple of hundred" in Salt Spring.)

The association then asked Mr. Armstrong if he had instituted such action and "the result of such action."

The CHEK-TV president replied March 21 that "while we regret our so-called interference to channel 5 in our immediate area, all our radiating equipment in use was selected to meet or exceed our department of transport's specifications.

"Although official tests have not been taken at our site, all our radiating equipment has been 'proved' by Standard Electronics Corporation of Newark, New Jersey.

"However, we personally do not believe that spurious emission from CHEK-TV is the cause of this so-called interference but rather that it is due to the lack of selectivity of ordinary television receivers which as yet cannot separate adjacent channels when the difference in signal strengths approximate the ratio of one million to one."

Mr. Armstrong added that, while a move to the north of Victoria is against regulations, "we at CHEK-TV feel that these regulations are very temporary and will eventually be lifted."

PENSIONS FOR ALL!

CANADA TRUST BULLETIN

A monthly release for Senior Officers and Friends of the Company

Number 100 March, 1957

Pensions For All

The Minister of Finance in his Budget address announced that "it is now proposed to introduce a general policy of allowing tax postponement on limited amounts of earned income set aside for retirement by any taxpayer, whether an employee or not."

At the present time only those individuals who are members of registered plans have the advantage of deducting from taxable income, contributions to provide for retirement income permitted by the Income Tax Act. For some years, the self-employed have urged that they, too, should be allowed to deduct a reasonable portion of earnings which they might wish to set aside for retirement. In recent months they have pointed out that the Finance Act, 1956 of the United Kingdom, while perhaps too restrictive, provides substantially what they desire and accordingly there would appear to be no insurmountable administrative difficulties to be overcome. When the general policy announced by the Minister of Finance becomes law this inequitable situation will have been corrected.

In brief, the new policy appears to provide that contributions to a Retirement Savings Plan up to 10% of any taxpayer's earned income will be deductible from income for tax purposes. The maximum contribution to be allowed to those now contributing to a registered plan will be $1,500 and $2,500 to all others. To qualify as a Retirement Savings Plan:

(1) Funds contributed must, prior to retirement, be used for the purchase of a Retirement Annuity payable in equal annual instalments for the full life of the taxpayer with, if desired, a term certain up to 15 years or may provide on the death of the taxpayer for annual payments to his spouse not exceeding those he was receiving.

(2) The annuity may commence at any time but may not be postponed beyond 70.

(3) The contract may not be assigned, redeemed, or loan made against it.

The draft legislation also provides that all out-payments under the Plan are taxable, contributions may be returned to the taxpayer's estate upon his death and contributions made in 1957 will be eligible for deduction from taxable income.

There is no question that the provision for retirement income is highly desirable and it can be most economically secured if tax is postponed on contributions and the interest earned on accumulating funds. The Minister of Finance has indicated that the broad effect of this new policy will be anti-inflationary and it is hoped Canadian taxpayers will take advantage of this opportunity to provide for retirement income.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY Mrs. Ben Gerber (MOTHER OF 5)

A baby can judge the world only by the gentleness and punctuality with which his wants are met. When you make your baby's world comfortable and friendly you help him develop security that will stand him in good stead through a lifetime.

Equal rights. I heard a doctor once say that the only trouble with bottle-feeding is that the mother can see the amount left in the bottle and her natural instinct is to try to make baby finish it. Surely a bottle-fed baby should have the same right as the breast-fed baby—the right to stop feeding when he's had enough.

Nutritionally sound thinking. Vitamin C, so necessary for sound gums, teeth and body tissues, is usually added to baby's diet in the early months. Gerber Strained Orange Juice provides baby with this important vitamin in a pleasant, refreshing way. It's made from tree-ripened oranges, specially selected for mild flavor, pleasing color and a high vitamin C content. Most of the peel oil is removed for easy digestibility.

Clever, these mothers. I'm thinking about the one who slips large-size plastic bowl covers over baby's carriage wheels after each outing. Claims they really spare the runs when she rolls the carriage into the house.

Five for your adorable one. Gerber's five cereals—Rice, Barley, Oatmeal, Wheat and Mixed Cereal make it easy to give baby the variety he'll soon learn to want. They're all precooked and have a wonderfully smooth texture when mixed with milk or formula. For a nutritional "plus" they're fortified with iron, calcium and B-vitamins.

Isn't it reassuring to know that when you start your baby with Gerber you can depend on the same brand throughout babyhood? Gerber has a type of food for every baby need. Over 75 varieties of Cereals, Strained and Junior Foods. Gerber Baby Foods, Niagara Falls, Canada.

AT THE 19th

With Harry Young

When the Victoria and District committee meets Thursday to make the draw for the qualifying round of the Vancouver Island Open Match play championship it is going to face a problem in Art Donaldson's entry.

Donaldson, a former Alberta professional, has made an application for reinstatement as an amateur. This application should have been forwarded some time ago to the Royal Canadian Golf Association, but it was "lost" in Vancouver, and has not yet been considered by the ruling body.

Donaldson, who has complied with the regulations by refraining from participation in recent professional events, has now entered the Island Open as an amateur.

What makes the problem more difficult is the fact that Donaldson would rank as one of the three or four most likely players to win the trophy.

The Victoria committee, although sympathetic to Donaldson, could risk prejudging Donaldson's application to the RCGA by allowing him to compete as an amateur, and Donaldson himself cannot play as a professional or he would automatically destroy his chances of reinstatement.

Leo Derman, the local district secretary, said yesterday that every effort would be made to get an immediate ruling either from the B.C. Golf Association or from the RCGA itself in time for Thursday's meeting.

* * *

So far, only four of the six past holders of the title have made their entries. They are Eric Hibberson (twice a winner), Bill McColl, Bob Morrison and Laurie Kerr (last year's winner).

Non-entrant ex-holders so far are Ted Colgate and Bob Fleming. Although the latter has been practising at the Gorge Vale recently it is not likely that he will compete, although he presumably could do so as a professional.

Other leading contenders for the Island crown are Frank Scroggs, Dr. George Bigelow, Vic Painter, Vince Clarkson, John Merriman, Norm Boden and Doug Munro. Local pros taking part are Laurie Carrol and Bill Court.

Up-Island clubs represented in the entry are Courtenay and Cowichan. A former Gorge Vale champion, E. P. H. Robinson, heads the Courtenay entry of three, while Gordon Whan and Clayton Wright are included in a quintet from Cowichan.

The qualifying round on Sunday at Gorge Vale will produce 32 qualifiers for the championship and 32 qualifiers for the handicap championship. The trophy for the latter event is again being presented by Hugh Francis.

WILLINGDON REGAINS STATUS: Last year's experiment by the RCGA to play the Willingdon Cup matches simultaneously with the qualifying rounds of the Amateur Championship was so unpopular that it was inevitable that there would be a reversion to the old method for 1957.

This year, the Willingdon Cup and the junior championship will be played Saturday, Aug. 17, and the amateur championship will start Monday, Aug. 19. There will be two qualifying rounds, and 64 will qualify for the match play. The semi-finals and final will each be over 36 holes.

Venue is the St. Charles Country Club at Winnipeg.

* * *

CHALLENGERS INVITED: Challengers are being invited for the Victoria Golf Club's "Walking Stick," which turned up recently after being "lost" for more than 10 years.

The order of play for the stick will be decided by ballot, the first two out of the hat playing for the honor of having his name inscribed on the stick.

Play is under handicap terms, over 18 holes of match play and the holder must be prepared to defend the stick at least once every two weeks.

AROUND THE CLUBS: In an effort to raise its membership roll, the Royal Colwood club has decided to waive its normal entrance fee for the first 50 active men players and the first 25 active ladies . . . annual meeting of the Victoria Golf Club has been set for Tuesday, April 30, at 8 p.m. . . . Gordon Cameron and Stan Davies won the Clark Cup at Gorge Vale Sunday with a best ball of 65. W. Rowe and H. Fletcher were runners-up with 67 . . . Mr. and Mrs. George Wheaton were winners of the Victoria Golf Club's opening mixed foursome last Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Barry were second and the putting competition was won by N. Bamford and Mrs. A. Gonnason. More than 150 members turned out for the social evening, during which club-president Reg Wilde presented prizes to the winners.

Hitters Have Big Day; Yanks Get Good News

Hitters stole the spotlight for the most part in yesterday's major league exhibition baseball games.

At Mesa, Arizona, veteran outfielder Dou Mueller hit a grand-slam home run with the bags filled to give New York Giants a 7-6 win over Chicago Cubs. Bob Speake had driven in four runs to give the Cubs a 6-3 lead.

At Lakeland, Florida, shortstop Harvey Kuenn drilled a home run, two doubles and a single, driving in five runs to lead Detroit Tigers to an 8-4 win over Cincinnati Redlegs.

Kuenn, held hitless only once in 15 games, now has a 10-game streak going and a .404 batting average.

Brooks Robinson, Baltimore's spring sensation, continued to clout the ball yesterday, driving in four runs to help the Orioles to a 7-5 win over Cleveland Indians.

And Brooklyn Dodgers exploded for eight straight hits in a seven-run third inning to whack the Philadelphia Phillies, 8-3.

Don Newcombe gave up nine hits in six innings but two of the three runs he allowed were unearned.

New York Yankees had a day off but spent a profitable 24 hours when it was learned that injuries to Mickey Mantle and Bill Skowron are not as serious as suspected.

Mantle, who tore ligaments in his left ankle Sunday, will be running within three days and Skowron, who fractured a thumb two weeks ago, took batting practice yesterday and is almost ready for regular duty.

Tenacious checking of Detroit's one-two scoring combination of Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay was one of the big factors in Boston Bruins' 3-1 victory over the Red Wings in last night's opening game of best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final. Here Fernie Flaman (left) and Jerry Toppazzini put the squeeze on Lindsay while Howe looks on.—(CPC).

Hard Checking Stops Wings As Bruins Take Series Lead

DETROIT (AP)—Boston's eager Bruins, checking fiercely all over the ice for the 60 minutes, came from behind to whip Detroit Red Wings 3-1 Tuesday night in the first game of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series.

Red Wings, champions of the National Hockey League and Stanley Cup winners four times in the last seven years, were a picture of frustration after bolting to a 1-0 lead in the first minute of play.

They never mounted a serious offence after that first flurry and through much of the evening had trouble getting the puck out of their own zone.

Jack Caffery, Doug Mohns and Real Chevrefils did the goal scoring for the third-place Bruins, back in the cup playoffs after an absence of one year.

Bruins, who have not won the coveted cup in 14 years, battled doggedly and seemed to rally for even more strength every time a penalty put them at a manpower disadvantage.

With the rugged defence corps giving rookie goalie Don Simmons plenty of protection, Bruins—called "the hungriest team in the playoffs" — surged from behind after Detroit rattled off a goal in 50 seconds of first-period action.

Detroit applied the pressure at the outset and after half a minute of heavy checking in front of the Bruin net, Ted Lindsay shoved the puck past Simmons after it had been worked loose by teammate Gordie Howe in an exchange with two Boston defenders.

Caffery, who scored only two goals during the regular season, one against Detroit, got the tying marker late in the first period. Skating swiftly, he took a short pass from Fleming Mackell and lifted a 15-footer over the outstretched arm of Detroit goalie Glenn Hall.

POWER AHEAD

Bruins took the lead on a power play at the 38-second mark of the second period. With Lindsay sitting out a carry-over penalty, Doug Mohns blasted a 50-foot screen shot that swept past Hall, blinded off by three or four players.

Chevrefils got the insurance goal early in the third period. Hall had made two tremendous saves on short blasts by Don McKenney an Leo LaBine before Chevrefils blasted home Fernie Flaman's rebound after just 49 seconds of action.

Boston — Goal: Simmons; defence: Flaman, Mohns, Boivin, Armstrong. Blenda; forwards: LaBine, McKenney, Stasiuk, Mackell, Gardner, Caffery, Toppazzini, Peirson, Boone.

Durham Plays Villain In 3-2 Cougar Defeat

NEW WESTMINSTER—Lloyd Robert "Pete" Durham, unpredictable 29-year-old defenceman, turned on former teammates Tuesday night as New Westminster Royals took a 3-2 decision from Victoria Cougars in the first game of the best-of-three semi-final in the Western Division of the Western Hockey League

Durham, who has won "bad-man" honors in six of his nine professional hockey seasons and who won all-star rating and a new WHL scoring record for defencemen while at Victoria in the 1954-55 season, played both Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde last night. Whichever the role, it hurt the Cougars, or a Cougar.

PLAYS ROUGH

He flattened Victoria coach Colin Kilburn with a stiff punch to the whiskers in the first period, during which he spent seven minutes in the penalty box. He got two more minutes for tossing an elbow in the third period.

Then he turned over a new leaf, and showed fans the hockey which had led them to select him as the most valuable player to his club, an award he received last night.

With time rapidly running out and the Cougars desperately defending their 2-1 lead, Durham brought more than 3,000 fans to their feet by scoring with the rebound from a shot by Gordie Fashoway.

Play had scarcely started in the extra period before Durham grabbed the puck in his own zone and fed a long pass to Arlo Goodwin.

Goodwin raced down the right board before passing to fiery Arnie Schmautz, who cut around the Victoria defence and drove a shot behind Marcel Pelletier.

BLOW LEAD

The rink-length play ended what had been an exciting game. The Cougars took a 2-0 lead in the first period on a shot by defenceman Lionel Heinrich which deflected off a Royal defender and a quick flip by Doug Macauley, who took a passout from Ray Powell, behind the New Westminster goal.

Penalties to Bill Dobbyn put the Royals back in the game.

The big Cougar defenceman was still sitting out a first-period penalty when Fashoway slipped up to ram in a passout from Blinky Boyce at 22 seconds of the second period.

Cougars clammed up there, playing defensive hockey and waiting for a break which would give them an insurance goal. They had several chances but goalkeeper Bev Bentley was on the job when the Royals needed him the most and three or four times came up with great stops to keep his club close.

Dobbyn drew his second penalty at 14.11 of the third period and Durham cashed in just 20 second before the Cougars were due to return to full strength.

And, so, the Cougars now have to win here tomorrow night and at New Westminster Saturday unless they are to call it a season.

It's all a matter of which streak gets snapped first. The Cougars have won eight in a row at Memorial Arena but they haven't won away from home since January 29, losing 10 and tying three.

Of past performances, the Cougars should force a third game. Not only have they been unbeatable at home of late but they own a 7-1 edge over the Royals at Memorial Arena.

However, Cougars have only won once and tied twice in nine games at Queen's Park this season.

Victoria — Goal: Pelletier; defence, Dobbyn, Heinrich, Davidson, Mathrann; forwards, Leach, Haworth, Carmichael, Anderson, Brown, Powell, Kilburn, Macauley, Chiupka.

New Westminster—Goal, Bentley; defence, Durham, Bererton, Matthews, Yamchuk; forwards, McNab, O. Dorohoy, Love, Goodwin, Fashoway, Boyce, Schmautz, Olson, Roberge, Kukulowicz.

Referee: Jess Johns; linesmen: Ed Downes, John Smith.

Rocket Breaks Tie As Canadiens Win

NEW YORK (AP)—Bernie Boom Boom Geoffrion scored a pair of goals and assisted on two others to lead Montreal Canadiens to a 4-1 victory over New York Rangers in the opener of a best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series at Madison Square Garden Tuesday night.

Montreal broke a 1-1 tie midway in the third period, then scored twice in the final minute to pull away.

WINNER TO ROCKET

Although Geoffrion figured in the four Montreal goals, it was veteran Maurice "Rocket" Richard who put the flying Frenchmen in front for good midway in the final stanza. The 35-year-old winger snapped a 1-1 tie when he deflected Geoffrion's 35-footer into the right corner of the cage.

The goal at 7.02 came as a result of a power play with New York's Dean Prentice in the penalty box.

Doug Harvey fed Geoffrion, who drilled the puck from the left side. Richard, waiting at the goal mouth, flicked it past New York goalie Lorne "Gump" Worsley's outstretched hand.

Then Montreal broke the game wide open in the last minute as Rangers pulled Worsley from the nets in a desperate attempt to gain the equalizer. The strategy backfired.

LONG SHOT

Geoffrion lofted the puck from his own blue line—120 feet from the Ranger cage—into the empty net at 19.21 after taking a pass from Bert Olmstead. After the ensuing face off Jean Beliveau sealed the verdict by beating Worsley from point-blank range nine seconds later. Geoffrion picked up his second assist on this goal.

Athletics Out of Playdowns; Miss Win by Two Seconds

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—Tom Karren's field goal with two seconds remaining gave Southern Alberta Chinooks a 67-66 win over Alberta Athletics Tuesday night and the Western Canada senior men's basketball semi-final in two straight games.

Chinooks won the right to enter the western final against Winnipeg St. Vital Bulldogs, starting Friday in the Manitoba city.

With the second hand on the clock rapidly drawing to the end, and Athletics in front, 66-65, Jack Lilja fouled Gary Panton in trying to steal the ball from the Athletics. Panton missed the free shot and Karren grabbed the rebound. The ball was passed off to Tyler Alston, who took a toss at the Alberni hoop. Karren nabbed the rebound and dunked the two points just before the bell went.

Alberni battled the final minutes minus their starry playing coach Elmer Spiedel and Ron Bissett.

STARS MISSING

With 12 minutes remaining in the contest, Spiedel and Larry West of Chinooks staged a minor flare-up and referees Don Steed and Wilson Rolfson threw both men out of the game. Minutes later, Bissett drew his fifth personal foul and went to the bench.

Lilja, last year with Edmonton Towne Hallers, paced the Chinooks attack for the second night, nabbing 22 points. Karren notched 18 for the southern Albertans and Al West, 13.

For the losing British Columbia champions, guard Al Brown counted 20 points, mostly on long shots from 25 feet out. Doug Brinham garnered 12, Bill Hill, nine; Bissett, eight, and Spiedel, seven.

The first half ended with Alberni up, 34-32.

Play started nip-and-tuck in the final half and with seven minutes played Lilja tied the score at 44-44 with a driving lay-up and then counted two foul shots to put Chinooks into the lead.

Chinooks took a 56-50 margin with only a few minutes left to play but the B.C. club came roaring back to knot the count 60-60.

With a minute and 45 seconds left, Chinooks were in front 63-62 but Brown tossed in a long shot to put Alberni into the lead. Lilja and Brown then traded baskets, setting the stage for Karren's game-winning shot.

Chinooks counted 25 out of 47 tries from the field, while Alberni scored the same number of field goals out of 55 attempts. On the foul line Chinooks counted 17 out of 29 and Alberni collected 16 out of 25 tosses.

Lineups:

Chinooks—Lilja (23), Karren (18), A. West (13), L. West (6), Rice (4), MacIntosh (4), Alston, Matkin, Blacker. Total—67.

Athletics—Brown (20), Brinham (12), Hill (9), Bissett (8), Spiedel (7), Panton (4), Williamson (4), Krego (2), Watts, Redford, Berge. Total—66.

Day to Shed Light On Toronto Scene

TORONTO (CP) — Hap Day, who in 30 years with the Toronto Maple Leafs organization had little to say for publication, plans to tell all today.

Day, who quit Monday as general manager of the National Hockey League club, announced he will hold a press conference.

"It might be a very interesting session," he said. "I hope to be able to answer all questions."

There may be quite a few. Neither Day nor Leaf president Conn Smythe had much to say on Day's departure, believed to have stemmed from internal differences over what Smythe has called publicly "a year of failure."

Leafs finished this year in fifth place in the NHL, out of the Stanley Cup playoffs and not far from the cellar.

Day was asked whether anything of an "inflammatory" nature might be discussed at the press conference.

"I should think so," he replied. "But I'll answer all questions at the conference, not beforehand."

Oxford Favored in Race, Thanks to Tough Aussie

LONDON (CP) — A slave-driving Australian has whipped his Oxford crewmates into the favorite's role in Saturday's Oxford-Cambridge boat race. Win or lose, his training methods are likely to be the subject of continuing debate.

Rod Carnegie, president of the Oxford Union Boat Club, graduated from Melbourne University in the same class as John Landy and shares the mile record-holder's intense devotion to athletic techniques.

His avowed models are Harry Hopman, coach of an apparently endless stream of Australian world tennis champions, and Franz Stampfl, the Austrian track coach whom both Landy and Roger Bannister give a large share of the credit for their shattering of the four-minute barrier in the mile.

BREAK WITH TRADITION

Losers of 25 of the last 31 races including the last two straight, the Oxonians have departed drastically from traditional methods in their efforts to reverse the trend.

In place of the normal six-week training period, Carnegie substituted a rigorous conditioning program beginning last November which included weight-lifting and running as well as conventional gymnastics.

NO "LIE BACK"

But the real controversy—which has some Oxford partisans almost hoping for a Cambridge victory—arose when Carnegie threw overboard the "lie back" stroke that has graced the 4¼-mile Thames classic for generations.

In its place he substituted the upright posture and increased leg action with which crews from the United States, Canada and Australia showed up Britain's olympic entries at Melbourne last February.

Traditionalists fear that an Oxford victory could lead to "chaos" in teaching methods and stoutly maintain that all Britain needs to do to regain world supremacy is to stick more strictly to the basic principles of the old style.

Gorge Herring Can Depend on Company for Breakfast

By JIM PETERS

The kids fall in the Gorge "pretty regular," the old men fish them out, the tides come and go but the supply of herring for Island "jig fishermen" appears endless.

Just take a drive out to Gorge bridge—but watch out for flying hooks and herrings!

The same scene has been repeated each year since colonization. The run is now on!

There is a wharf—about 20 feet square—which happens to be built alongside the exact spot where the herring eat breakfast.

There have been as many as 200 herring jiggers on the wharf at one time when there is a run.

Let one of the pioneers of this sport, Ted Osman, still jigging at 91, tell what occurs: "Well," says Ted, "you get 200 people on that wharf and the water comes over the boot tops."

They need another wharf. There used to be a ramp that ran under the Gorge bridge but it was torn down. Ted says a new concrete ramp would certainly "beautify" the area and probably be a lot safer.

The little wharf bucks and heaves with the fishing populace holding dancing bamboo poles. The poles may bob for hours before a run comes. When it does, little flying fish may blot out the sun.

Everybody's herring arrives at the same time. Everybody is intent on fishing their herring out at the same time.

Lines sometimes get tangled.

In the 40 years Ted has been fishing the Gorge he estimates the amateur jiggers have taken 50 tons of herring out of the estuary.

The area covered is not more than 100 yards at the most. The fish move with the tide. Ted says the best time to get a bucketful is two hours before and after high tide. He has taken as many as 200 in one day—sometimes 30 on one jig.

Ted says the herring feed on small insects and that is why they are attracted to the bright tufts of wool used on the jigs.

The jig rigs have as many as a dozen hooks tied on. There is a two-ounce sinker at the bottom.

Nobody uses bait.

The herring come each year to spawn in the slack waters above the bridge.

The run lasts from February until about May 1.

About 40 years ago everybody jigged at the Cringflower bridge. Nobody fished the Gorge. Now the situation is reversed but the herring have never noticed the change, Ted says.

Ted has watched a whole generation of herring fisherman grow up—from kids with poles to middle-aged men—since he started jigging at the age of 40.

George Bone, 261 Burnside, confided he has been jigging for 32 years in the same spot. "I started when I was eight."

The present run looks good, George says. When the schools are large you can fill a bucketful in an hour.

But he advises newcomers to take the advice of the old-timers and "and watch the tide tables."

Rigney Has Willie But a Lot of 'Ifs' Cloud Giant Scene

PHOENIX (UP)—New York Giants will need a miracle, like the one in 1951, if they are to get very far in the National League pennant race this year.

Although Bill Rigney, in his second year as manager of the Giants, is an optimistic fellow, he knows it will take a lot of doing to beat out Brooklyn, Milwaukee, Cincinnati or St. Louis for a place in the first division.

"I know we're better than a sixth place ball club," said Rigney, "but, I'll have to admit we have a lot of ifs connected with our club."

MANY OF THEM

The ifs apply to:

—Red Schoendienst's ability to play a full season at second base, following an arm injury last year.

—Gail Harris' hitting. Harris could not solve big league pitching in two previous trys with the Giants. But the slick-fielding first baseman has showed signs this spring of breaking his habit of hitting at bad pitches.

—Rookies Andre Rodgers, a shortstop from Dallas, and Ossie Virgil, a third baseman from Minneapolis. Right now they have won regular jobs—Rodgers with his power hitting and Marty Marion-like fielding, and Virgil with his hustle at third.

—Hank Sauer, the 38-year-old left fielder. His legs must hold up. He has been hitting the long ball this spring as he once did.

Those are lots of ifs, but if they turn out favorably, "then we're gonna have a heckuva ball team," says Rigney.

HERE'S WILLIE

There's one encouraging thing about the Giants. The odds are strong that they will get another fine performance out of Willie Mays, the "Say Hey" kid who makes everyone say "hey" about his hitting, fielding and running.

Mays is hitting the ball to right field with regularity—a feature that Rigney says could make him "a .380 hitter." Last year Willie's average slipped to .296, and he had 36 homers and 84 runs batted in. These are respectable figures, except that Willie wants to return to his lusty hitting ways of 1954, when he won the batting championship with a .345 average and knocked 41 homers.

Sauer will get some help from Whitey Lockman, whom the Giants got back from the Cardinals. Lockman has been hitting the ball on the line, "curing the hitch I developed when Leo Durocher) had me hitting for the fences."

Bob Mueller, in his 10th year with the Giants, will hold down right field, hoping to improve his .269 average of 1956, when a pulled thigh muscle slowed him down in the last half of the 1956 season.

Wes Westrum hasn't caught 100 games since the 1953 season, but he still is one of the steadiest receivers in the business. He must work nearly a full season behind the plate if the Giants have first division hopes. Bill Sarni was to have been the regular catcher, but a heart attack at the beginning of spring training ended his playing career. The Giants still are in the market for an experienced catcher, and may yet make a trade to get one.

. . . AND JOHNNY

For pitching, the Giants have one of the best left-handers in the game in Johnny Antonelli, 20-13 last year. The rest of the staff looks shaky, however. The much-travelled Dick Littlefield, returned to the Giants when the Jackie Robinson deal was nullified, was promoted to the No. 2 spot this week.

Vikings Take 81-57 Drubbing From Towering Toronto Team

TORONTO (CP)—Victoria College Vikings took their worst beating of the season here last night as the powerful Toronto YMHA Whites thumped them, 87-57, in the opening game of their best-of-five series for the Canadian junior men's basketball championship.

Vikings, who were defeated only twice in nine games in winning the Western Canada title, were up against the stiffest competition they have ever faced in the Whites and could not cope with the fast-breaking and close-checking Toronto game. Whites led, 40-25, at half time.

CLOSE AT START

Vikings were in contention during the first 10 minutes of the game, during which the lead changed hands four times, and led 12-8, at one point. But the Whites overcame early nervousness to pull away. From then on, the Victoria club was never closer than 10 points.

Toronto, with a first string that averaged about 6'4", virtually controlled the backboards throughout. Centre Bob Tomlinson played a strong checking and rebounding game for the Vikings, but fouled out with six minutes remaining.

Ed Kowalyk, another strong defensive player for the visitors, went out of the game on five personals with 10 minutes left.

Vikings were far from discouraged at the result of the game. As one player put it, "We know we're better than they are, but we just couldn't get started."

Second game of the series will be played tonight and the third on Thursday night. Fourth and fifth games, if necessary, are scheduled Saturday night and Sunday afternoon.

Scorers follow:

Victoria—McClusky 5, ... 6, Kawalyk 4, Brousseau 6, Flynn, Rossington, Chiko 8, Lore, English 12, Tomlinson 16. Total—57.

Toronto—Gaidy 8, Reynolds 26, Cohen 5, Olonow 4, Moch 4, Lewis 11, Buntins 13, Waters 2, Bobkin 8, ... Total—87.

Brentwood Told:

'Can't Blame City'

Representatives of Brentwood water district are carrying their fight against a proposed hike in water charges right into the enemy camp—Ottawa.

District chairman Victor Dawson and another member of the water board, H. McDonald, will see Transport Minister George Marler Thursday to press the board's claim that a 300 per cent boost in the cost of water is unjustified.

A special meeting of the water board took the action on receipt of a letter from Victoria's Mayor Percy Scurrah, denying one of the main arguments put forward by the federal government in support of the price rise.

Mr. Marler earlier notified the district that the price of 1,000 gallons would rise from 12 cents to 35 cents April 1.

In reply to protests he said Victoria City, which owns Elk Lake, had asked the federal government for a 300 per cent increase in payment for the water.

Mayor Scurrah's letter, read at last night's special meeting in Brentwood, said the city had made no demand for an increase in the price paid for the Elk Lake water.

School Tax

Esquimalt's Mill Rate May Rise

An increase in Esquimalt's school tax of 1.35 mills may put the general mill rate up, Reeve A. C. Wurtele told Esquimalt council Monday night.

Last year's increase was absorbed though, he noted, and the same thing could happen this year.

Esquimalt's share of the school budget this year will amount to $142,054 compared to $114,951 last year.

Trains Stolen

Two locomotives, 15 railway cars and a considerable length of track were stolen in the last three days, Victoria police were advised—but the thieves shouldn't have had too much trouble hauling away the loot.

The equipment, including 12 feet of track, was part of a model railway owned by Maurice Foord, 440 Michigan. Value of the stolen articles is about $75.

Hopes Doomed For Merchants

Hopes of city merchants for year-round six-day shopping are not likely to be realized this year, Mayor Percy Scurrah said yesterday.

The mayor said he had been told by well-informed sources whom he could not name that the new Municipal Act would not be changed at the present session of the legislature to extend the two-summer-month period of six-day shopping that it allows.

Libby's
TOMATO JUICE
for pep instead of pounds!
* only 4 calories per ounce

* Libby's "gentle press" Tomato Juice is a wonderful drink for diet conscious people. It contains only 4 calories per ounce or far less than any other fruit juice. Also an excellent source of Vitamins A & C. Here is the finest Tomato Juice you ever tasted, or Libby's will refund DOUBLE your money.

6 "Easy-do" ideas from Libby's
Mary Hale Martin

Cooking with Libby's Catchup is cooking with rich tomato flavor. You get this extra "tomatoe-y" flavor as a result of Libby's unique old-time recipe, which calls for more tomatoes in every batch. You'll find it adds marvellous flavor to many things you cook.

First: keep 2 bottles of Libby's Catchup in your kitchen—one for the table, one handy to your cooking centre. Then, when you're making STEW, add a good dollop of Libby's Catchup. Stir it into meat loaf and spread some more on top so the flavor seeps all through. Spoon Libby's Catchup over hamburgers during the last 5 minutes cooking time. Enjoy it over frankfurters and pork chops too—

—and we'll let your own ideas take it from there! Just remember: next time you shop, buy 2 bottles of Libby's Catchup. You'll find it the best you ever tasted or DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK!

Classic cream puffs bejewelled with Libby's Fruit Cocktail is a luscious dessert, yet "easy-do". Cut the tops from large cream puffs and fill the shells with vanilla ice cream. Ladle Libby's Fruit Cocktail— syrup and all—over puffs as they are served. Jewel-like cuts of peaches, pears, Hawaiian pineapple, maraschino style cherries and seedless grapes in their own flavor-rich juices —a beautiful dessert!

Lovely to look at, lovely to bite into! Bake an Angel Food cake from a mix, in loaf pan. Cut into squares, top with sweetened flavored whipped cream and golden slices of Libby's Pineapple. Fill centers with whipped cream mixed with bits of pecans and maraschino cherries. You'll find Libby's the most luscious pineapple ever (it comes only from Hawaii—from Libby's own plantations. We're fussy about what goes under the Libby label!).

Late Buying Brings Rally To Markets

TORONTO (CP)—Fresh buying spread through the stock market Tuesday minutes before the close of trading. All sections, with the exception of golds, closed with higher indices.

Observers said the climb was to be expected following a week of generally lower prices.

Consumers' Gas, Union Gas, Hayes Steel and Minnesota and Ontario Paper were point winners. Trans Mountain eased one point to 116½.

Uraniums sparked the mining list to higher ground.

Advocate featured other mines, jumping 85 cents to $9.25 in active trading. Senior base metals were fractionally higher.

Western oils spurted ahead with the other sections but they still had a number of sizable losses scattered through the list. Canadian Devonian lost 35 cents at $7.75 and Central Explorers lost 30 cents at $3.65. Canadian Atlantic, Richwell, Trans Canada, Trans Empire, United Oils and West Decalta added 12-16 cents.

Aluminium Firmer

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges closed irregularly mixed Tuesday following moderately active dealings with price movements ranging to more than a point.

In a steady base metal section, Aluminium firmed ⅜ at 120 while International Nickel at 100 was down ⅛.

Among steels, Algoma climbed 1⅜ to 120½ while Steel of Canada dropped 1¼ to 61½ and Dominion Steel eased ⅛ at 21.

Calgary Power at 65¼ and Bell at 44⅜ each showed ⅛ increase in utilities. Inter-Provincial Pipe Lines was ½ better at 53, while in the refining oils International Pete dropped a point at 50½. Canadian Oil firmed ¼ at 28 while Imperial dropped ⅝ to 51½. CPR at 32⅜ was ⅛ lower in carriers.

Steels Favored

NEW YORK (UP)—Stocks enjoyed a brief rallying period in the fourth hour and then lapsed back into dullness.

The rally started shortly before 2 p.m. and ran for about 15 minutes.

It centred on steel issues where Jones & Laughlin and Rotary Electric were favorites. The latter rose nearly 2 points. Youngstown Sheet gained 2 at its best. Bethlehem and U.S. Steel firmed.

Chrysler ran up a point in the autos. Oils strengthened with several reaching new highs for the year on gains ranging to more than a point. Coppers which had been depressed on price softness came back somewhat from their lows. Special issues registered gains ranging to more than 2 points.

When volume lapsed again into its lethargy, the price level held fairly well.

There was nothing in the news to account for the sudden burst of strength. Floor traders apparently tested out a theory that if activity developed it would attract new buyers. It failed.

Domestic corporate bonds dipped irregularly in quiet trading, paced by convertibles. Over-the-counter, U.S. government bonds were marked up 1-16 to ⅛ point in quiet dealings.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prices in all grains showed irregularity and some hesitation in dull trade. Offerings were light early in the sessions, influenced by upturns on United States markets. However, as the session progressed a heavier volume appeared.

There was no information available on overnight exports of Canadian wheat.

CHICAGO (AP) — All grain futures were higher most of the time although profit-taking cut the advances in late trading.

Wheat, rye and soybeans were up more than a cent at times. Traders said the upward movement in wheat apparently was a technical rally following recent downturns. There also was export buying in most pits.

U.K. Buys Uranium

Disappointing Purchase

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Taking the value of Canadian uranium production at $300,000,000 a year within the next two years, the British decision to purchase $115,000,000 worth from Canada in the next five years is modest to the point of being disappointing.

Yet although the British purchase will be less than one-twelfth of the total Canadian output, the contract is valuable in that it provides Canada with a second uranium market.

Up to now, the only purchaser for Canadian uranium has been the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, and doubts about what that authority intends to do after the present contracts expire around 1962 has hitherto acted as a damper to the Canadian uranium industry.

The British order, announced in a communique from Bermuda following the meeting of the British and Canadian prime ministers, is entirely for use in developing commerical atomic power in the United Kingdom.

Unless better methods of nuclear power development are discovered, it is possible that the British order may not only be repeated but increased in following years.

However, Britain's further requirements are still under discussion, and the investor in uranium issues should realize that the long-term outlook remains speculative.

NEW LIFE FOR MINE

The British Columbia silver mine at Beaverdell, owned by the Highland Bell Ltd., appears to have secured a new lease of life by the discovery of new and richer ore at depth.

While the old upper mine workings may not last more than two years, the new ore gives the company reserves for a number of years.

In one length of 200 feet, the company has cut ore averaging 200 ounces of silver to the ton. It has been decided to step up the output from 50 to 75 tons a day.

Taking the price of silver at 90 cents an ounce, the profits from the new ore, at the mill's comparatively low operating costs of about $30 a ton, the mining of the new ore should be a profitable undertaking.

Since 1935 the Highland Bell mine has produced over $7,500,000 worth of ore, chiefly silver.

SALES RECORD TOPPED

Record sales—5.3 per cent higher than a year ago—are reported by Pacific Gamble Robinson Co., of which A. P. Slade (Victoria) Ltd. is a wholly-owned subsidiary.

Net profit is not divulged but sales in 1956 were $178,614,799.

The company believes that the development of the Pacific Northwest as an oil refinery area will help its subsidiary Inland Petroleum Transportation Company which handles by-products of the refineries.

Pacific Gamble Robinson Co. is the largest wholesale distributor of fresh fruits and vegetables on the North American continent.

DIVIDEND PASSED

The British Motor Corporation, which manufactures the Morris, Austin and other popular lines of British cars has passed its interim dividend to ordinary shareholders. Last year at this time it paid 4 per cent.

BMC lost money in the six months ending Jan. 31, and it will pay its preferred dividend due March 31 out of reserves.

The purchase tax British motorists have to pay is blamed by [illegible] for cutting down the home market and thus making it more difficult for the British manufacturers to compete with European cars.

VANCOUVER SELECTED

The recently-formed Webb and Knapp (Canada) Ltd. has announced plans to develop, for industrial purposes, 900 acres of land in the Greater Vancouver area.

It proposes to develop 640 acres in Burnaby, and 270 acres on Sea Island with 9000 feet of navigable river frontage.

Webb and Knapp, a subsidiary of the William Zeckendorf Land Development Company of New York, will have two-thirds interest in the Vancouver development.

The company is at present drawing up plans for a large rebuilding program in metropolitan Montreal.

B.C. FAVORED

The choice has been made of British Columbia as one of the most favored spots on the American continent with the greatest growth potential, in a report by Babson's, a reporting service for businessmen and investors.

In recent years Babson's finds that owing to its greater utilization of natural resources the percentage increase of B.C. production has been substantially higher than for the rest of Canada and 100 per cent greater than the U.S. average.

Companies well placed to participate in this growth are discussed. Hagar Investments have a supply of copies of this report for distribution on request.

CANADA'S BIGGEST

The new Imperial Oil [illegible] ence, now on its maiden voyage, is the largest ever owned by Canadian interests. Built at Nagasaki, Japan, it is of 35,000 tons deadweight.

It is proceeding to Kuwait for its first pay load and will then return across the Indian and Pacific Oceans to California. It will then visit Halifax in May after taking on a load of crude in Venezuela.

PROGRESS AT PAPAONGA

Copper Man Mines Ltd. is completing a magnetometer survey of its iron ore property at Papaonga Lake in Northern Ontario preparatory to diamond drilling. High dip-needle readings have been returned over a length of over a mile at a maximum width of 210 feet. A sample from an outcrop assayed 43.39 per cent iron amenable to concentration.

In addition Copper Man has taken an option on 75 claims in northwestern Ontario in Desmazures Township, three miles east of the Atlin-Ruffner development.

Canadian Broker Barred in N.Y.

NEW YORK (UP)—A Canadian securities firm and its president were permanently enjoined against dealing in New York state Tuesday on charges they fraudulently promised "a fortune" to investors in a non-existent mining operation.

Named in the permanent injunction handed down by Justice Benedict D. Dineen on application of state attorney-general Louis K. Lefkowitz were James Stewart Securities, Ltd., and James Stewart, both of Toronto.

Lefkowitz said the firm fraudulently promoted 65-cent-a-share stock in Cavalier Mining Corp. which he said consisted solely of 650 acres of virgin land in eastern Ontario. He said they also had failed to file dealers' statements with his office as required by law.

Harris Rebuffs Bank Governor

OTTAWA (BUP)—Finance Minister Walter Harris told the Commons flatly Tuesday the government would not recommend that banks be empowered to use some of their savings accounts deposits for housing mortgages.

"The government does not intend to make a recommendation along those lines to the House," he said.

The suggestion was raised by James Coyne, governor of the Bank of Canada, in his recent annual report. The chartered banks have expressed fears that the Canadian banking system would be upset without proper study of the proposal.

Harris said that if and when the government ever decided to adopt the Coyne suggestion, legislation would have to be introduced and studied by the House and its banking and commerce committee.

"No such recommendation is being made," he said.

RCMP Boost Delayed Year

Municipalities policed by the RCMP have been given a reprieve from the 50 per cent jump in costs which was to take place in June, Assistant Commissioner C. W. Harvison said yesterday.

But municipalities employing more than five RCMP officers will still pay more than they did last year.

Old charge was half of the cost for each officer employed in the municipality. New charges, brought in this year, are half of the cost for the first five men employed, and 75 per cent of the cost for each man over five.

Next year municipalities will have to pay 75 per cent of the cost for each man in the area.

The full cost rise was postponed for a year to help municipalities prepare their budgets to cover the increase, Commissioner Harvison said.

Boys Jailed for Savage Beating

NANAIMO — A 15-year-old Victoria youth was among four Brannan Lake corrective training school boys who were sentenced to 18 months at Oakalla in Nanaimo police court yesterday for the savage beating of a night watchman with a showerhead.

Transferred from juvenile to open police court were Douglas Breeze, Vancouver; James Alvin Page, Victoria; Lyle Ray Oliver, Penticton, and Gary Alexander McPherson.

They pleaded guilty to assault, occasioning bodily harm to elderly watchman George Bamford on Feb. 10.

Bamford, in hospital more than a month with a double fracture of the skull, was not in court.

McPherson, the only member of the gang over 16, was sentenced to 18 months definite and two years less a day indefinite in the young offenders' unit at Oakalla. The others go to the prison farm.

No plea was taken in the cases of two other boys who will appear in court April 10.

Cadillac

Speaks A Language All Its Own!

Take a good look at this gentleman as he strides out into the early morning to his waiting car.

In all probability you feel—as we do—that you know a goodly number of things about him.

First of all, we would be willing to venture that he is a man who holds to high standards of achievement . . . and that he occupies a substantial position in his own area of endeavor.

We would guess that he is held in high personal esteem by his friends and associates.

And we would also suppose that he is a practical man who is keenly aware of the basic value and worth of the things around him.

The reason for all this is not far to seek.

For the motor car that awaits him at the curbside bears the beautiful crest of Cadillac. And here, beyond conjecture, is the most eloquent spokesman in all the realm of possessions.

In fact, the Cadillac car has, over the years, been so closely associated with the leading citizenry of our land that the two have become all but inseparable in the public mind.

For just as these motorists have placed their trust in Cadillac, so Cadillac has given them everything they could hope for in an automobile.

Cadillac has given them unduplicated beauty and luxury . . . and unsurpassed performance and comfort and ease of handling.

Cadillac has given them quality. In fact, the car is so soundly designed and built that it has become a synonym for integrity of product.

And Cadillac has given them value. With each passing year, it becomes increasingly apparent that Cadillac represents one of the wisest purchases in all motordom.

* * *

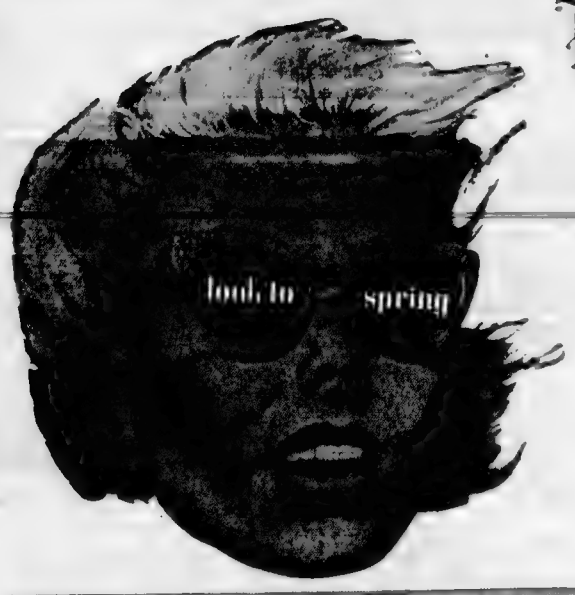

Have you driven a 1957 Cadillac? If not, we urge you to come in and let the car tell you its own thrilling story on the highway.

We think you will agree that this year, more than ever, Cadillac speaks a language all its own!

Gaglardi Sprints In Vain

By PETER BRUTON

GAGLARDI RUNS: Highways Minister Phil Gaglardi sneezed out of the legislature yesterday and was busy catching up with a pile of work in his office when a harassed aide phoned to say:

"Mr. Minister, the [illegible] estimates for your department are just about to be debated."

The stocky minister dropped everything and would have put a sprinter to shame with his [illegible] dash from the Douglas block to the legislative chamber where he arrived, seconds later, somewhat out of breath.

Haste was hardly necessary. Apart from a veiled comment about the minister's much-quoted plane trips around the province it seems nobody had any questions to ask the minister anyway.

* * *

TATTERED OLD DOOR: A visitor to the legislature who may have been a cynic inquired yesterday if the screen door on historic Helmcken House, now a government museum, was the same one installed by Dr. J. S. Helmcken when he built the house in 1851.

It appears the screen door is hanging in tatters and that some form of government red tape keeps the neat old house from getting its front door fixed.

It's something like a handsome aristocratic dowager who has one front tooth missing.

* * *

HOLIDAY MOOD: Members are so anxious to leave Victoria for their homes that they had almost passed a bill through the committee stage before George Gregory noticed that it hadn't even been given second reading.

A somewhat red-faced group of MLAs were forced to backtrack, give the bill second reading, then go through committee stage once again.

* * *

HE WANTS PROGRESS: George Gregory yesterday proved he is willing to make almost any concessions as long as the government will come up with its promise of a new courthouse for Victoria.

If the premier would give his word that a start on construction of a new courthouse would be seen this year, said Mr. Gregory, he'd personally excuse the premier if he chose to make a speech outlining all the broken Liberal promises of new courthouses for the capital city in past years.

"My friend," replied Premier Bennett, "If I did that I would be speaking all night long."

Mr. Gregory obviously considers the question of a courthouse as his own private preserve. For when the only other Liberal in the House, Oak Bay's P. A. Gibbs, got up to speak yesterday the Victoria member said:

"If he's going to ask for a courthouse I'm going to quit."

But for all Mr. Gregory's trouble the government once again adamantly refused to commit itself.

* * *

NOTABLE VISITOR: The grandson of a former B.C. premier sat in the public galleries yesterday.

[illegible] Hunter, who once sat in the House as a Conservative in the days of the Pattullo government, dropped in to see if things had changed.

His father, Joseph Hunter, was also a former MLA and his grandfather was Premier John Robson (1889 to 1892).

* * *

THEY PROTEST TOO MUCH: Members of the private bills committee which Monday rejected Vancouver's bid for Sunday sports were hopping mad yesterday that the press had reported how members had voted.

They demanded to know which member of the committee had told the press, and when this failed said the reports were wrong anyway.

In fact so many members were protesting that it would almost seem the committee had unanimously supported Sunday sports rather than rejected it.

Victoria Hates To Pay

Victorians have a notorious tradition of [illegible] away in droves from events where admission is charged, [illegible] committee member Frank Hunter told the group last night.

Tougher Attitude Urged

City Kindly Supplies Parks For Saanich, Edgelow Says

A tougher city attitude to [illegible] Saanich in connection with parks was advocated yesterday by Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, city council parks committee chairman.

"What parks has Saanich got besides our city-owned parks?" Ald. Edgelow demanded. "Our beautiful, valuable land in Saanich could be sold to reduce our debt. Saanich hasn't had to do anything because Victoria has been very kind in supplying parks for it."

In a sense, he said, Victoria [illegible] parks for the whole of Greater Victoria.

[illegible] Parks [illegible] they want some [illegible] they go to Beaver or Elk Lake, for which the city is paying two-thirds of the cost."

PARKS NOT ALL

There are so many things that Victoria pays too much for besides parks, Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson [illegible] hospitals and nursing homes.

Ald. Edgelow directed that the question of the city retaining its parks [illegible] and [illegible] the upkeep be [illegible] for the agenda for the next meeting of parks committee.

ESTIMATES CUT

His remarks came as the committee worked its way [illegible] through city parks estimates for 1957, cutting out $1,000 for repaving of [illegible] Park tennis courts and $500 of an estimate for cleaning of Gonzales beach.

It will continue its work today.

A LOVELIER YOU

SPRING REDUCING SERIES. Is your figure thrown a curve by excess tummy curves? Well then, better get busy on this trimmer.

Sit on floor, legs together and hands braced behind back. Point toes and keep them so throughout. Very slowly raise legs six inches off floor, spread wide, lower two inches, bring together and return to floor. Repeat five times at outset; work up to any number you can take without strain.

To speed results, pull up in the middle at all times and wear a firm girdle. If overweight, add a reducing diet to the program. The curves would not have developed had you always been careful of your posture, corsetry and diet.

TRIMMERS AND SLIMMERS

Let me help you with the problem of a too-fleshy arm, chest or upper back by sending you my leaflet, Trimmers and Slimmers. It contains a set of co-ordinated spot reducing exercises — easy to do, quick to get results. Woman in Charge Of Navy Shooting

HALIFAX (CP) — Another field long considered man's preserve has been successfully invaded by a woman.

The navy has announced that Acting Sub-Lt. Joan Hudson has been appointed officer in charge of rifle shooting instruction at HMCS Scotian, the Halifax naval reserve division.

She will show seamen, stokers and other branches in the reserve navy how to handle firearms.

A skilled markswoman, she entered her first rifle competition in 1952, taking first place in three of the matches at the annual Nova Scotia Rifle Association shoot at the Bedford Rifle Range. Later that year she won the junior aggregate championship of the Halifax Garrison Indoor Rifle League.

She entered competitions of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association in 1954, the year she qualified as an expert, meaning that she had to shoot in the expert's classification in all service rifle matches.

As a member of the naval reserve Sub-Lt. Hudson's rifle lessons are an after-hours job. By day she is a staff member of the post-graduate committee of the faculty of medicine at Dalhousie University.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Royal Jubilee Hospital will be held in the nurses' home on Wednesday, March 27, at 2:30 p.m.

What's Cooking! By Frances Thompson

Follow Method Carefully To Make Good Puff Pastry

... week let's take a ... morning on making Puff Pastry. Many of you good cooks doubtless know all the necessary tricks but these instructions have often been requested by our less experienced readers ...

First let me warn you that really good puff paste is not easy to make, but don't get scared. Instead, make up your mind yours is going to be a success and it will be. Read this column first and then follow each step most carefully. For the sake of our newlyweds and other aspirants of culinary perfection I will explain the method in detail.

First of all, it must be realized that puff pastry is about as different from ordinary pastry as chalk is from cheese. It's in a class by itself and is not cheap ... What is it used for? ... chiefly as party fare and for special occasions. At one time it was thought pastry flour was essential but ... recipe was developed with all-purpose flour which ... use these days ... As for the shortening, if you can afford ... pastry ... and half a good firm shortening of your choice ... puff pastry ... butter and half lard ... pastry containing ... small amount of shortening the fat can be chopped ... at once. But as the amount of fat increases it's quite a different story. Keep it cool ... As for the amount of water which should be used ... will vary with the flour ... a very general rule ... average two to four tablespoons per cup of flour ... small amount ... can always add more but you can't take it out ... so come on let's go.

PUFF PASTRY

Three and a half cups ... all-purpose flour ... 2 cups ... butter ... water (see above) ...

... here on I'm going to describe the method step by step to make it easier reading.

1. Cream remaining butter till soft and smooth ...

... make three folds, one over and the other under, and press edges ...

... for an hour.

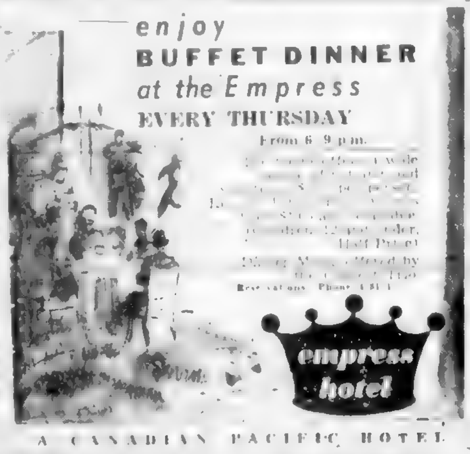

6. Now ... the tricky ...

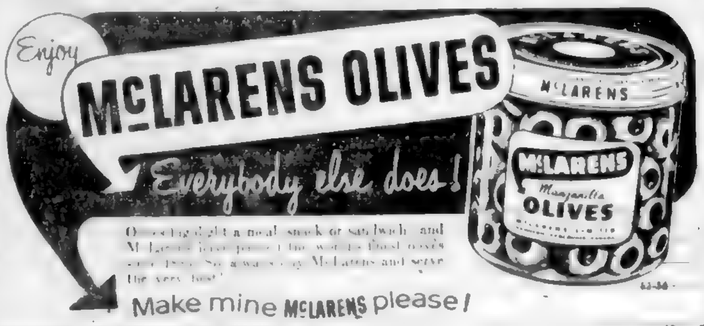

That's been a long lesson and now some of you will want to know what this very rich pastry is used for. As said before, for party snacks such as bouchees, jam puffs, crescents to accompany fruit desserts and such like. So if you're interested please clip this article and we'll carry on with recipes for the use of puff pastry tomorrow.

A Creeping Sickness?

Angry Young Man

By PATRICK KEATLEY
North American Newspaper Alliance

Pick up a daily paper or one of the big national magazines here and you will find those AYM initials jumping out at you in the headlines.

* * *

It has literary and political implications. Some commentators here think it is a creeping sickness brought on by living in a welfare state.

* * *

This is perhaps the key to the whole AYM cult. At its root is a basic envy of the wealth and driving energy of the United States.

It is in fact about as typical as "a two-legged tree rat with false teeth" and the thing to do Punch says is not to treat him too tenderly.

Deportation Quashed

Another Round Won by Hanna

OTTAWA (CP)—Immigration Minister Pickersgill is expected to make a statement in the Commons in the next day or two on a British Columbia Supreme Court decision declaring invalid a deportation order against Christian George Hanna.

But said the judge the decision hasn't "established the right to live in Canada ... it is for immigration officials and them alone to grant or withhold that privilege."

J. Arthur MacLennan, lawyer for the department, announced he will recommend an appeal against the judgment.

TV TALK

By Bruce Lowther

The Academy Award people hand out the 1956 batch of Oscars tonight, beginning on channel 4 at 7.30 and on channel 2 at 8.15. Emcee will again be Jerry Lewis, who was a wow last year and [illegible] Crosby and Dorothy Dandridge.

Chrysler Festival again has top talent including George Shearing, Ernie Kovacs, Four Lads and Martyn Green. The Concert Hour series ends tonight and good movies are "Rembrandt," "Boomerang" and "Captain's Paradise."

* * *

Speaking of award winners this column has finally found out who won the TV Emmys for camera work. Best live camera work was on Kraft Theatre's "A Night to Remember" and best filmed effort was Loretta Young's "The Pearl."

"Eat it first, and we'll find out what program they sponsor later."

TV awards confined to the New York area were monopolized by Mike Wallace and his Night Beat show. Wallace, who won three awards, will move the controversial and frank interview show to ABC some time next month.

* * *

A week or so ago this column reported that Jack Barry and Dan Enright grossed $5,000,000 last year through 21, Tic Tac Dough and other quiz shows they own. Now, the two men who were starving radio announcers 15 years ago have announced sale of all their shows to NBC for several million dollars. Barry will stay on as emcee with a fancy salary.

Speaking of 21, the quiz outrated Lucy 38.26 on Charles Van Doren's last night. Last week, with Van Doren away, Lucy won 35.26.

Latest ratings show that Steve Allen's growing popularity has pushed him to seventh place in total audience and knocked Ed Sullivan out of the lead. CBS's GE Theatre, Alfred Hitchcock hour has taken first place and with Jackie Gleason away, Perry Como blasted CBS 31-16.

* * *

TV BITS: Abbe Lane may replace Perry Como during the summer . . . On Trial and Circus Boy will be cancelled after this season . . . ABC has decided not to cancel Bishop Sheen but will shift him to Sunday afternoons next fall.

And there's money in old cartoons. In their first nine months on TV the old Popeye cartoons have brought their owners a net profit of more than $2,000,000.

Vancouver Man's Gift Enriches Collection

By INA D. D. UHTHOFF

The recent gift to the gallery of the collection of drawings, paintings, etchings and wood engravings of the well-known art lover and critic, H. Mortimer Lamb of Vancouver, has greatly enriched the existing permanent collection.

Chiefly work of Canadian artists, one of the earlier examples is a small painting by Homer Watson, "The Ploughman."

Two members of the original Group of Seven, J. H. Varley and A. Y. Jackson, are represented. Varley's rich little study "Lynn Valley" and his two portraits, one in charcoal and the other in oils, give one an idea of his beautiful feeling for color and incisive use of line.

COLOR CONTRASTS

Sumptuous color is handled with authority by Laura Munz. In contrast, the larger canvas "My-e-en," a sensitively-felt painting of a Chinese fish vendor, has a direct approach. Its color passages move quietly. This painting, by Vera Weatherbie, was awarded the governor-general's prize in the early 30s.

The Bobac's are represented—Molly by "North Vancouver Ferry" and a charcoal drawing "The procession." Bruno by a typical water color, "Grey Log," and a wood engraving, "Dogwood."

It is seldom that we are fortunate enought to see any of the earlier work of B. C. Binning. There is a portrait sketch of sound structure and sympathetic handling.

The British school produces a wood engraving by John Nash and a study in oils by Duncan Grant, while Chinese art gives us three handsome scrolls painted on silk.

Two of the gems of the collection are Johannes Bosboom's water color with line, "Figures in an Interior," and J. F. Millet's etching, "Mother and Child."

BLOCK PRINTS

In addition, thanks to the generosity and interest of C. G. Beeching, we are able to show a fine collection of Japanese wood block prints in color. There is also an exhibit of Eskimo sculpture from the National Museum at Ottawa which includes some very fine examples of this art.

The children's drawings which have been assembled by the Junior Red Cross international art program are on view upstairs.

Many countries are represented. In most cases the most vital work has been done by children of around 10 years of age, the Japanese [illegible] ahead of those of other nations.

Later in the week the Tarascan sculpture exhibit will be in place.

Giggling and Singing Among the Skeletons

PARIS (UP)—Police investigating "giggling and singing sounds" coming from the catacombs of Paris early Tuesday found 19 thrill-seeking teenagers making merry with champagne beside the skeletons.

[illegible] described as from society families, broke through a heavy iron gate and descended into the dank catacombs Monday night armed with candles, chilled champagne, and sandwiches. There they sang and danced in the galleries which contain thousands of skeletons.

They left about 2 a.m. yesterday, and found a small convoy of police wagons waiting to take them downtown.

Police said their men investigated after they heard strange noises coming from the depths.

The teen-agers were let off with small fines.

Fixing Charged In Coal Prices

OTTAWA (CP)—T. D. MacDonald, director of the federal combines investigation branch, said Tuesday preparations are being made to prosecute Winnipeg coal firms accused of price-fixing in 1956.

The accusation against the firms was contained in a combines report issued in January.

Ralph Meeker, the day before he planed out for Munich, turned his New York apartment inside out in a futile search for his passport. It was found later in a dresser-drawer at the Garden of Allah, where he lives while in Hollywood.

Shop-Closing Rules Won't Jolt Business

By R. O. MARRION

Business is not likely to be thrown out of gear by shop-regulation provisions of the new Municipal Act when it first comes into effect at the beginning of July, city hall officials said yesterday.

When the act becomes effective, it will require that all shops close at 6 p.m. except on Friday when they may remain open until 9, on Wednesday, when they must close at noon, and on Sunday, when they must remain closed all day.

But with the approval of cabinet, councils may pass by-laws exempting from the shop-closing provisions, completely or to a specified extent, service stations, garages, bakeries, drug stores or stands within shops for sale of fresh fruits, fresh vegetables, soft drinks, dairy products, bakery products, cut flowers, florists' products and confectionery. Councils may also permit six full days of shopping a week in July and August.

ANY TIME

Provincial authorities said yesterday that these by-laws could be passed by councils any time after the passing of the act.

Even if exemption by-laws were not put before councils until July, however, city officials do not believe that closing requirements—or those of them that councils intended to alter—would be strictly enforced at once.

Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black has indicated in a letter to city council that in his opinion, Victoria garage and service station operators need not be alarmed.

The Automotive Retailers' Association asked council recently to persuade the government to retain present legislation, because the new act "would cancel completely" all closing by-laws for garages and service stations and "the result is bound to be chaos . . ."

But Mr. Black, in his letter to council, said the association apparently had overlooked the section of the proposed new act empowering a council to exempt service stations and garages.

Driver Faces Trial In Woman's Death

Herbert A. Roberts, young truck driver, was committed for trial by Magistrate Henry C. Hall yesterday on the close of a preliminary hearing for manslaughter.

Roberts, whose home is at 957 Dunsmuir, was charged following the death in a traffic accident of Mrs. Grace White, 58, of 429 Quebec, last Sept. 16.

Fatally injured in the same accident was Mrs. Leona Daniels, 63, of 941 Cloverdale. Mrs. White's husband, William Harold White, 67, was also injured.

The accident occurred shortly after 4 p.m., when a truck struck the three as they were crossing Douglas at Herald Street.

Constables James Smith, Douglas Grant and Ronald Ferguson, and Sgt. Brooke Douglass of the traffic division, testified yesterday.

Police said Roberts told them he did not see the three pedestrians until a moment before impact, and blamed this on a fogged windshield.

Mrs. Marylin Burrwood, 970 McKenzie Avenue, told the court she was behind the three pedestrians in the crosswalk. She had looked both ways, and had seen a truck approaching.

As the three pedestrians ahead of her approached the traffic lane nearest the centre of Douglas, Mrs. Burrwood realized that the approaching truck was not slowing down.

Mrs. Burrwood stepped back, and saw the truck hit the three pedestrians, and the three bodies "go up, over and down." None of the three appeared to see the truck.

Mrs. Burrwood said it was raining fairly heavily.

Mr. White, husband of the fatally injured woman, said:

"We went into the crosswalk and were hit. That's all I can tell you. I didn't see the truck or anything. We were about half-way to the centre-line, maybe more."

Roberts, represented by Vancouver lawyer Thomas Dohm, was released under a renewed bail bond of $5,000.
